Murder Witness 'Loses Memory' At Newton Trial

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A chief witness for the prosecution in the murder trial of Black Panther leader Huey Newton took the Fifth Amendment, pleaded loss of memory, and was finally excused.

Prosecutor Lowell Jensen announced at the close of Tuesday's session in Alameda County Superior Court that he now has only four more witnesses to present, one of them criminologist John Davis, and that he hopes to complete his case Thursday.

The trial of Newton, 26, accused of murdering a white Oakland policeman, bogged down Tuesday with the calling of Del Ross, a Negro in his 30s who had told the grand jury Newton had forced him at gunpoint to drive him to a hospital after the shooting last Oct. 28.

After refusing to testify, though granted immunity, Ross pleaded loss of memory. This extended to a tape played in court by Newton's attorney, Charles Garry, which Garry said had been made in his office by Ross on July 28. Ross said in court he couldn't remember having seen Garry before Monday when Ross first took the witness stand.

In the tape, the voice Garry said was that of Ross declared he had not told the truth to the grand jury.

"I was too frightened... I had a warrant on me..." for parking tickets, the voice said.

Before the grand jury Ross had said Newton had told him he had just "shot a couple of dudes," and "would still be shooting if my gun hadn't jammed."

In the tape, the voice said Newton was "kinda out" from his wound, was not armed and did not talk. The voice said a second man who got into the front seat of Ross' car was armed. He was not identified.

Harriman Blasts Viet Red 'Obstruction'

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam today it has mounting evidence that "you are making plans for another round of large-scale attacks" in South Vietnam.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, beginning the fourth month of his talks with Ambassador Xuan Thuy, also accused the North of blocking progress in peace-making and declared: "We are ready to consider, publicly or privately, any realistic proposal which will advance the cause of peace."

Thuy, who spoke first in today's 17th session of the talks, charged the United States with "obstructing the way toward a correct political settlement."

"The state of these conversations over the past three months, just like the situation in the battlefield in Vietnam, has clearly shown that the bellicose ruling circles in the United States, while talking peace, always plan to intensify the war of aggression in Vietnam and to achieve neocolonialism in South Vietnam," Thuy said.

Both the Harriman and Thuy speeches were reviews of the talks since they began May 13 and both repeated familiar charges and positions. Harriman's speech, however, also brought in by implication the currently critical issue of whether the lull in fighting in the South is a move of de-escalation by Hanoi which President Johnson could use to justify ending the bombing of North Vietnam.

Harriman was apparently saying that on the basis of available evidence so far that is not the case.

"From captured documents, defectors, prisoners and from broadcasts by Radio Hanoi, the evidence has mounted that you are making plans for another round of large-scale attacks," Harriman said.

There has been widespread speculation that either Hanoi or Washington might make some policy shift, but concrete evidence of any major progress in the talks is lacking.

Harriman accused North Vietnam of taking a "completely sterile" line in the Paris peace talks while Communist terrorists in South Vietnam killed thousands of people "in cold blood."

Harriman said: "He hoped that the return from Hanoi of Le Duc Tho, a member of the Communist party Politburo, 'will be useful.' This reflected U.S. speculation that Tho, who spent six weeks in Hanoi, may have brought some new instructions.

The American envoy told newsmen that while there may have been a decline in combat action in South Vietnam, Viet Cong terrorists have killed 8,000 civilians since the first of this year, wounded 20,000 others and kidnapped 6,000.

"That doesn't mean those who have been caught in the war," he said, "but those who have been killed in cold blood... These terrorist actions don't get much publicity, but terrorism is one of the facts of life in South Vietnam."

"This cruel, ruthless terrorist action of the Viet Cong still continues with no purpose except to terrorize people into giving in to their rule."

His other point of attack in today's meeting, he said, was that "the North Vietnamese delegation has been completely sterile in its attitude. It's got one phrase which it repeats."

He apparently referred to North Vietnam's demand at every session since the talks opened May 13 that the United States stop all attacks on North Vietnam before any other peace-making issues can be discussed.

7 Train Cars Of Ammunition Threaten City

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—The entire downtown section of this Champaign County city of about 11,000 was closed down today as authorities took precautions against high explosives in derailed freight cars.

Approximately 5,000 persons were evacuated from a half-mile area in the area of the Penn Central freight derailment just three blocks from the downtown district.

Army ordnance crews and several hundred National Guardsmen were on the scene sealing off the area.

The derailed cars carried 105MM shells and highly explosive detonators. However, one official on the scene told local newsmen that he believed there was only "one chance in a million" of any explosion.

The precautions were ordered by the Pentagon, local officials said, after officials there were informed of the derailment. A Defense Department explosive expert is expected on the scene later in the day to make a decision about handling the derailed cars.

Allies Uncover Viet Supplies

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces trying to spoil the third Viet Cong offensive of the year before it can get started uncovered huge weapons caches along infiltration corridors north of Saigon and leading from the Cambodian and Laotian borders, military spokesmen reported today.

Little other activity was reported in the Vietnam war. The U.S. Command said tropical storm Rose cut U.S. air missions over North Vietnam's southern panhandle to 31 Tuesday, the lowest number in more than two years.

In the most significant find, allied forces checking a group of villages reportedly housing as many as 25,000 Viet Cong sympathizers 25 miles north of Saigon turned up more than 500 rounds of rockets and recoilless rifle ammunition Tuesday, 72,000 rounds for automatic weapons and five pounds of documents.

Ten Vietnamese trying to escape were killed in a 15-minute fire fight, and 17 prisoners were flushed from the tunnels in the action Tuesday. No allied casualties were reported.

Using "seal and search" tactics units of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment put a cordon around the village of Cau Dat with armored personnel carriers and tanks. South Vietnamese and American "tunnel rats"—infantrymen who dig through tunnels—moved in to search the village.

Cau Dat is less than 10 miles north of a big U.S. Army helicopter base and the headquarters of the South Vietnamese 5th Infantry Division.

It was the second productive "seal and search" operation in the cluster of villages north of Saigon in the last five days.

Four miles to the northeast of Cau Dat, allied forces raided the village of Chanh Luu last Friday after sealing it off in a similar manner. That time the allies killed 18 Viet Cong troops and seized 114 prisoners and more than three tons of food. The prisoners included two (Continued on Page 2)

Premier Escapes Bomb Explosion Near Automobile

ATHENS (AP) — Greek police intensified their searches today and made new arrests in the wake of the attempt to assassinate strongman Premier George Papadopoulos.

George Drossos, an Athens journalist and former government press undersecretary, was dragged from his bed by security police before dawn.

Reliable sources said that hours earlier police took Anastassios Peponis, former director general of the Athens State Radio, to security headquarters. Both Drossos and Peponis were members of the leftist Center Union party of former Premier George Papandreou and his son, Andreas, the chief targets of the military coup 16 months ago.

"An act of heroism," said Andreas of the attempted assassination. He is an exile in Stockholm.

Drossos, 56, was held for 20 days last January.

Papadopoulos narrowly escaped death Tuesday when a bomb exploded 15 yards behind a car taking him from his seashore villa to a cabinet meeting in Athens.

A former army commando lieutenant, George Panagoulis, 30, was seized as he tried to flee from the scene 19 miles south of Athens on the picturesque shore of the Saronic Gulf, officials said.

The government blamed the attempted assassination on right-wing plotters. They sought anyone who might know anything about it or about two smaller bomb blasts that occurred in central Athens at almost the same time.

A main target of the search was a motorboat which officials said tried to move in through swarms of bathers to pick up Panagoulis.

Panagoulis—clad only in a bathing suit—stumbled on the jagged seashore rocks, badly cutting his legs, and the launch sped off into the bay, officials said.

Four Teenagers Injured In Collision, 1 Critical

CRASH VEHICLES — Four persons were injured in these two vehicles in a crash Tuesday evening at the junction of Route 23 and Crites Road. Driver of the auto in the bottom photo was 16-year-old Steve Crist. Nancy Benzenburg, 17, was the operator of the auto in the top photo. The drivers, plus a passenger in each car, were injured.

Four teenagers were injured, one critically, in a two-car collision on Route 23 at Crites Road about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Listed in serious condition at Children's Hospital, Columbus, is Steve Crist, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Crist of Jefferson Addition. A passenger in the Crist car, Dennis Knece, 15, Circleville, is in satisfactory condition at Berger Hospital.

Nancy Benzenburg, driver of the second car, is in Berger Hospital, where she is listed in satisfactory condition. Nancy, head majorette at Circleville High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Varble, 560 Northridge Road.

Diane Benzenburg, 15, of Oakland, N. J., a passenger in the Benzenburg car, is in satisfactory condition after being transferred to Riverside Methodist Hospital, Columbus.

THE Benzenburg vehicle was south bound on S. Court St., made a right turn onto Crites Road and came to a stop at the junction of Route 23. After stopping at the signal the car pulled onto the highway at which time it was struck near the left rear by the Crist car, according to the sheriff's report.

The Benzenburg auto rolled 88 feet, coming to rest in the median strip along the south bound lane. The Crist car traveled 148 feet before hitting a ditch and stopping.

No skid marks were left by either car, according to sheriff's deputies, suggesting that the drivers did not see each other until the time of impact and that they were both then too stunned by the collision to apply their brakes.

The accident is still under investigation by the sheriff's office.

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Raymond McNabb, 43, Troy, was electrocuted Tuesday when he brushed against a wire while taking grain samples from railroad cars parked here.

Indict OSU Professor In Draft Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indictments returned Tuesday by a Federal Grand Jury here included one against a former Ohio State University assistant professor accused of burning his draft card.

Dr. David Green, 26, allegedly burned the card April 5 before students in his classroom. The history teacher was dismissed from the faculty last month by the university's trustees.

He was indicted on charges of burning his draft card and not having the card in his possession.

Anthony B. Pomporeni, 50, of Wickliffe was named in a 20-count indictment charging him with mail fraud.

The government charges that Pomporeni, while operating a publication called the Labor Union Advocate, printed in Cleveland, billed several companies for advertising they had not authorized.

Lawrence P. DeLuca of the DeLuca Packing Co., Rayland, Jefferson County, was indicted on a charge of transporting uninspected meat.

Big 'Varoom!' Spoils Concerts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Officials at Blossom Music Center, the summer home of the Cleveland Orchestra, are trying to find the source of a big "varoom!" that echoes from somewhere backstage at least once during each concert.

The loud, hollow crash usually comes during a soft, slow passage in the music.

Varied theories have been offered to explain the mysterious noise—all connected with the effects of temperature change on structural elements in the pavilion.

McCarthy Forces See Maddox as 'Spoiler' for HHH Chances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has suggested rival Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey could win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot—unless Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox enters the race.

Leading McCarthy backers, expressing high optimism on the Minnesota senator's chances, estimated at a Washington news conference his first ballot delegate strength will be between 500 and 800 votes.

The backers, including campaign manager Blair Clark and John Kenneth Galbraith, chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, said Humphrey is "far short" of a first-ballot nomination.

The vice president estimated his strength during a nationally televised interview Sunday will be about 1,600 votes, nearly 300 more than needed.

The latest Associated Press survey of firm delegate votes shows Humphrey with 824½, McCarthy 436½ and Sen. George S. McGovern 28 with 801 uncommitted.

The candidates' higher estimates include votes they believe to be leaning to them. The AP survey counts only votes of delegates committed, pledged or publicly stating their voting intentions.

On the Republican side, presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon has lined up a series of meetings with prominent Republicans, including his former rivals for the nomination, to align a united campaign by the party.

With telephone calls Tuesday, Nixon arranged a meeting with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for next Wednesday in New York and a similar meeting with New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay.

"Both Rockefeller and Lindsay have agreed to support the ticket enthusiastically," said Robert Ellsworth, Nixon's national political director.

Nixon also talked by telephone with Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who will campaign for the ticket, Ellsworth said.

He said Nixon will meet Friday with California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who with Rockefeller vied for the nomination Nixon won.

Democratic contender Humphrey, meanwhile, accused Nixon

of engaging in "mighty good demagoguery" in criticizing the Johnson administration for North Korea's capture of the intelligence ship Pueblo and its crew.

Humphrey said Nixon favored a tough stand on the Pueblo that might have led to another war in Asia, "and we really don't need another one."

McGovern, the newest Democratic aspirant, said he hopes to draw 200 to 250 first-ballot delegate votes in Chicago. He said many will be votes McCarthy might not draw and thus will enlarge the anti-Vietnam policy vote.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has scheduled his first speech since the funeral of his brother Robert for next Wednesday in Auburn, Mass.

Press secretary Richard C. Drayne said Kennedy will speak on a number of "vital foreign and domestic issues" in the first of a series of speeches Kennedy promised when he announced he did not want to be considered for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

In other political developments:

—Third party candidate George C. Wallace, former Alabama Democratic governor, said he does not want a single vote at the Democratic National Convention. Wallace has said repeatedly he would not accept the Democratic nomination.

—Veteran state Rep. Marion H. Crank won Arkansas' Democratic gubernatorial nomination in a runoff Tuesday over Mrs. Virginia Johnson who hoped to become the state's first woman governor. Crank will oppose incumbent Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Harriman Blasts Viet Red 'Obstruction'

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam today it has mounting evidence that "you are making plans for another round of large-scale attacks" in South Vietnam.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, beginning the fourth month of his talks with Ambassador Xuan Thuy, also accused the North of blocking progress in peace-making and declared: "We are ready to consider, publicly or privately, any realistic proposal which will advance the cause of peace."

"An act of heroism," said Andreas of the attempted assassination. He is an exile in Stockholm.

Drossos, 56, was held for 20 days last January.

Papadopoulos narrowly escaped death Tuesday when a bomb exploded 15 yards behind a car taking him from his seashore villa to a cabinet meeting in Athens.

A former army commando lieutenant, George Panagoulis, 30, was seized as he tried to flee from the scene 19 miles south of Athens on the picturesque shore of the Saronic Gulf, officials said.

The government blamed the attempted assassination on right-wing plotters. They sought anyone who might know anything about it or about two smaller bomb blasts that occurred in central Athens at almost the same time.

A main target of the search was a motorboat which officials said tried to move in through swarms of bathers to pick up Panagoulis.

Panagoulis—clad only in a bathing suit—stumbled on the jagged seashore rocks, badly cutting his legs, and the launch sped off into the bay, officials said.

Four Teenagers Injured In Collision, 1 Critical

CRASH VEHICLES — Four persons were injured in these two vehicles in a crash Tuesday evening at the junction of Route 23 and Crites Road. Driver of the auto in the bottom photo was 16-year-old Steve Crist. Nancy Benzenberg, 17, was the operator of the auto in the top photo. The drivers, plus a passenger in each car, were injured.

Four teenagers were injured, one critically, in a two-car collision on Route 23 at Crites Road about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Listed in serious condition at Children's Hospital, Columbus, is Steve Crist, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Crist of Jefferson Addition. A passenger in the Crist car, Dennis Knece, 15, Circleville, is in satisfactory condition at Berger Hospital.

Nancy Benzenberg, driver of the second car, is in Berger Hospital, where she is listed in satisfactory condition. Nancy, head majorette at Circleville High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Varble, 560 Northridge Road.

Diane Benzenberg, 15, of Oakland, N. J., a passenger in the Benzenberg car, is in satisfactory condition after being transferred to Riverside Methodist Hospital, Columbus.

Mass Production Originator Dies

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Charles Sorensen, who as a $3-a-day pattern maker teamed with Henry Ford to set up the first auto assembly line, died Tuesday at his home after a long illness. He was 86.

Sorensen was the man who towed a car chassis on a rope through Ford's Detroit plant as workers added parts. His demonstration led to the "Model T" assembly line that brought the price for a car within reach of the average man.

THE Benzenberg vehicle was south bound on S. Court St., made a right turn onto Crites Road and came to a stop at the junction of Route 23. After stopping at the signal the car pulled onto the highway at which time it was struck near the left rear by the Crist car, according to the sheriff's report.

The Benzenberg auto rolled 88 feet, coming to rest in the median strip along the south bound lane. The Crist car traveled 148 feet before hitting a ditch and stopping.

No skid marks were left by either car, according to sheriff's deputies, suggesting that the drivers did not see each other until the time of impact and that they were both then too stunned by the collision to apply their brakes.

The accident is still under investigation by the sheriff's office.

Appeals Court Reinstates Stock Case

NEW YORK (AP) — A civil suit against the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. and 10 of its executives—accused of using inside information on a sensational ore discovery in Canada to reap stock profits—has been reinstated by the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Acting on an appeal by the Securities and Exchange Commission, the court on Tuesday reversed that part of a decision by U.S. District Court Judge Dudley B. Bonsor that absolved the company and the 10 executives of violating SEC regulations.

The case was sent back to Bonsor for "further proceedings"—presumably a new trial.

The appellate court, however, upheld the lower court finding in 1966 that Texas Gulf's secretary, David M. Crawford, and a company engineer, Richard H. Clayton, violated SEC rules governing stock trading by corporate insiders.

The SEC's civil suit did not involve any criminal charges. The SEC merely sought injunctions against the defendants in a move to establish a precedent governing stock trading by corporate insiders who have confidential information.

Big 'Varoom!' Spoils Concerts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Officials at Blossom Music Center, the summer home of the Cleveland Orchestra, are trying to find the source of a big "varoom!" that echoes from somewhere backstage at least once during each concert.

The loud, hollow crash usually comes during a soft, slow passage in the music.

Varied theories have been offered to explain the mysterious noise—all connected with the effects of temperature change on structural elements in the pavilion.

COMPTON, Calif. (AP) — A commercial helicopter carrying 18 passengers and three crewmen crashed today in a ball of flames in a park, police reported.

Lt. Kenneth Baguley said it appeared there were no survivors.

He said the craft apparently exploded in the air. Wreckage was strewn over a wide area in the park and playground. Flames were extinguished quickly.

There were no immediate reports of casualties on the ground.

Last May 23 persons were killed when a Los Angeles Airways helicopter returning to Los Angeles from Disneyland crashed in suburban Paramount. It was the worst helicopter crash in U.S. history.

McCarthy Forces See Maddox as 'Spoiler' for HHH Chances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has suggested rival Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey could win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot—unless Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox enters the race.

Leading McCarthy backers, expressing high optimism on the Minnesota senator's chances, estimated at a Washington news conference his first ballot delegate strength will be between 500 and 800 votes.

The backers, including campaign manager Blair Clark and John Kenneth Galbraith, chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, said Humphrey is "far short" of a first-ballot nomination.

The vice president estimated his strength during a nationally televised interview Sunday will be about 1,600 votes, nearly 300 more than needed.

The latest Associated Press survey of firm delegate votes shows Humphrey with 824½, McCarthy 436½ and Sen. George S. McGovern 23 with 801 uncommitted.

The candidates' higher estimates include votes they believe to be leaning to them. The AP survey counts only votes of delegates committed, pledged or publicly stating their voting intentions.

On the Republican side, presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon has lined up a series of meetings with prominent Republicans, including his former rivals for the nomination, to align a united campaign by the party.

With telephone calls Tuesday, Nixon arranged a meeting with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for next Wednesday in New York and a similar meeting with New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay.

"Both Rockefeller and Lindsay have agreed to support the ticket enthusiastically," said Robert Ellsworth, Nixon's national political director.

Nixon also talked by telephone with Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who will campaign for the ticket, Ellsworth said.

He said Nixon will meet Friday with California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who with Rockefeller vied for the nomination Nixon won.

Democratic contender Humphrey, meanwhile, accused Nixon

of engaging in "mighty good demagoguery" in criticizing the Johnson administration for North Korea's capture of the intelligence ship Pueblo and its crew.

Humphrey said Nixon favored a tough stand on the Pueblo that might have led to another war in Asia, "and we really don't need another one."

McGovern, the newest Democratic aspirant, said he hopes to draw 200 to 250 first-ballot delegate votes in Chicago. He said many will be votes McCarthy might not draw and thus will enlarge the anti-Vietnam policy vote.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has scheduled his first speech since the funeral of his brother Robert for next Wednesday in Auburn, Mass.

Press secretary Richard C. Drayne said Kennedy will speak on a number of "vital foreign and domestic issues" in the first of a series of speeches Kennedy promised when he announced he did not want to be considered for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

In other political developments:

—Third party candidate George C. Wallace, former Alabama Democratic governor, said he does not want a single vote at the Democratic National Convention. Wallace has said repeatedly he would not accept the Democratic nomination.

—Veteran state Rep. Marion H. Crank won Arkansas' Democratic gubernatorial nomination in a runoff Tuesday over Mrs. Virginia Johnson who hoped to become the state's first woman governor. Crank will oppose incumbent Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Sheriff's Cruiser Wrecked at End of High Speed Chase

The sheriff's department lost another car Monday when one of its cruisers was involved in a tail-end collision.

The cruiser, driven by Deputy Francis McGinnis, was chasing a speeding car driven by 19-year-old Daniel Murphy of Chillicothe on Circleville-Kingston Pike Road near the junction of E. Ohio St., about 10 p.m. Monday.

According to the sheriff's report, the Murphy vehicle was traveling in excess of 80 miles an hour with the cruiser unable to catch up. McGinnis turned on the siren and light just as the speeding car went over a hill in the road. Murphy stopped his car just the other side of the hill.

McGinnis reported that he was not able to see the stopped vehicle until his cruiser reached the hill. He applied the brakes slowing the cruiser to about 23 mph at the time of collision.

Murphy was cited by the sheriff's department for excessive speed.

North Vietnamese soldiers and were from at least a half a dozen Viet Cong regiments, some of which took part in the offensives against Saigon in February and again in May.

South Vietnamese rangers sweeping enemy infiltration routes leading from Cambodia into the Mekong Delta 73 miles west-southwest of Saigon turned up two weapons caches and killed 25 enemy soldiers in scattered fighting today and Tuesday, government headquarters said. The find included 92 AK47 assault rifles, the enemy's standard infantry weapon in South Vietnam; five mortars and assorted mortar equipment; 64 mortar rounds and rockets; a rocket launcher; 60 hand grenades and 80 pounds of TNT.

The rangers said they suffered no casualties. They were sent in to search the area after American B52 bombers dropped nearly 200 tons of bombs on the area. U.S. headquarters reported that the strikes triggered 29 secondary explosions, indicating large-scale destruction of ammunition stores.

Still another cache was uncovered far to the north in the A Shau Valley, bordering Laos, the key infiltration corridor for supplies and troops moving from North Vietnam into South Vietnam's Northern Provinces.

Government troops clashed with a North Vietnamese force guarding the cache and killed 10 of the enemy while suffering one dead and two wounded, a U.S. spokesman said. A spokesman said the cache included anti-aircraft machine gun; nine Russian rifles; 225 mortar and rocket rounds; 3,500 rounds of anti-aircraft ammunition and a large quantity of medical supplies.

U.S. officials say that allied forces in recent months have captured equipment for more than 40 enemy battalions.

Missile Sites May Close To Save Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — As an economy measure, the Army is considering shutting down a number of antibomber missile batteries, Pentagon sources say.

Built at a cost of millions, some sites have been operating 10 years or less.

The proposed action reflects the pressure the services are now under to meet spending cuts ordered by Congress in exchange for passage of President Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax.

The Navy already has gone on the financial chopping block, laying up 50 ships, including a nuclear submarine and a fleet of World War II support vessels, and deactivating eight air squadrons to save an estimated $118 million.

The Army was hit earlier with a Defense Department decision to save $125 million by not activating the 6th Infantry Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky., as originally planned.

The over-all government spending cuts were originally pegged at $6 billion, a figure that may be revised upward. The Pentagon is expected to account for about half of the amount by slashing almost everything not needed for the war.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said last week the No. 1 rule in economizing is that "the needs of our forces in Southeast Asia must be provided for fully, without exceptions."

The proposed missile cutback may knock out perhaps a dozen or more Nike-Hercules batteries across the country, sources indicate.

Exactly how many units are to be shut down, and where, is understood to be under consideration in the Pentagon. But at least some are expected to be National Guard outfits.

the Ravenna arsenal also were on the scene.

Guardsmen, highway patrolmen, police and deputies had made door-to-door checks telling people to get out of the area "just as a precaution," one officer said. No one was permitted to enter the area.

The derailment was in an industrial area of seven plants, the largest being the Grimes Manufacturing Co., which produces aircraft lighting systems. About 1,000 employees have been told to stay away from their jobs, as have hundreds of other workers in the other plants.

The County Courthouse, the post office, stores, offices and other major buildings were closed down, and officials said there would be no mail deliveries.

The area is expected to be sealed off until the Army makes a decision as to how to proceed with removal of the ammunition-laden cars, some of which were damaged. The one car carrying the detonators, or fuses, was not damaged.

About 300 National Guardsmen comprising companies C and D of the 216th Engineers, with units in Urbana and Springfield, were ordered to the scene.

Railroad officials said there were no injuries in the accident. Cause of the derailment had not been determined.

The derailment occurred when the 35th car of the 100-car freight train jumped the tracks near the Russell and Main streets crossing and 16 other cars followed.

A number of boxcars careened into a railroad overpass. Witnesses said the cars were piled up like "matchsticks."

More than 1,000 feet of track was torn up and railroad officials said freight trains were being rerouted through Dayton and Xenia. Passenger trains do not use the tracks involved in the derailment.

The derailment scene is on Urbana's west side.

Sketches of 'Phone Killer' Suspect Shown in Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Police have distributed a second artist's sketch of a man who telephoned them to say he had killed three persons and pleaded: "Please catch me."

The sketch, in color, was based on the description furnished by a gas station attendant and others who told police they thought they had seen the man described as 18 to 20 years old, about 5-foot-11 and 160 pounds with long blond hair combed straight back.

Police searched today for a third victim. The telephone caller directed police Monday to the nearly nude body of 11-year-old Marilyn Clark and her gravely wounded mother, Mrs. Dorothy A. Clark, 42, of Clarkston, Ga.

Mrs. Clark remained in "very critical" condition in a hospital and has been unable to give a description of her assailant. She was found slumped over the wheel of an automobile and her daughter's body was discovered on a roadside four miles away.

The caller said another body was "in the water."

The service station attendant said he serviced on Sunday the car in which Mrs. Clark was found. He said two adult women, a girl and a man were in the car at the time.

Police said Mrs. Clark and her daughter had been vacationing in the Miami area but they could not establish their whereabouts for the last 10 days.

B&O To Discontinue Passenger Trains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad asked the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday to approve discontinuance of the railroad's 338-mile passenger run between Cincinnati and St. Louis, Mo. The B&O, asserting that only 14 to 16 persons ride trains 11 and 12 daily, asked permission to withdraw the trains Sept. 12.

Allies ... 7 Train Cars ...

North Vietnamese soldiers and were from at least a half a dozen Viet Cong regiments, some of which took part in the offensives against Saigon in February and again in May.

South Vietnamese rangers sweeping enemy infiltration routes leading from Cambodia into the Mekong Delta 73 miles west-southwest of Saigon turned up two weapons caches and killed 25 enemy soldiers in scattered fighting today and Tuesday, government headquarters said. The find included 92 AK47 assault rifles, the enemy's standard infantry weapon in South Vietnam; five mortars and assorted mortar equipment; 64 mortar rounds and rockets; a rocket launcher; 60 hand grenades and 80 pounds of TNT.

The rangers said they suffered no casualties. They were sent in to search the area after American B52 bombers dropped nearly 200 tons of bombs on the area. U.S. headquarters reported that the strikes triggered 29 secondary explosions, indicating large-scale destruction of ammunition stores.

Still another cache was uncovered far to the north in the A Shau Valley, bordering Laos, the key infiltration corridor for supplies and troops moving from North Vietnam into South Vietnam's Northern Provinces.

Government troops clashed with a North Vietnamese force guarding the cache and killed 10 of the enemy while suffering one dead and two wounded, a U.S. spokesman said. A spokesman said the cache included anti-aircraft machine gun; nine Russian rifles; 225 mortar and rocket rounds; 3,500 rounds of anti-aircraft ammunition and a large quantity of medical supplies.

U.S. officials say that allied forces in recent months have captured equipment for more than 40 enemy battalions.

the Ravenna arsenal also were on the scene. Guardsmen, highway patrolmen, police and deputies had made door-to-door checks telling people to get out of the area "just as a precaution," one officer said. No one was permitted to enter the area.

The derailment was in an industrial area of seven plants, the largest being the Grimes Manufacturing Co. which produces aircraft lighting systems. About 1,000 employees have been told to stay away from their jobs, as have hundreds of other workers in the other plants.

The County Courthouse, the post office, stores, offices and other major buildings were closed down, and officials said there would be no mail deliveries.

The area is expected to be sealed off until the Army makes a decision as to how to proceed with removal of the ammunition-laden cars, some of which were damaged. The one car carrying the detonators, or fuses, was not damaged.

About 300 National Guardsmen comprising companies C and D of the 216th Engineers, with units in Urbana and Springfield, were ordered to the scene.

Railroad officials said there were no injuries in the accident. Cause of the derailment had not been determined.

The derailment occurred when the 35th car of the 100-car freight train jumped the tracks near the Russell and Main streets crossing and 16 other cars followed.

A number of boxcars careened into a railroad overpass. Witnesses said the cars were piled up like "matchsticks."

More than 1,000 feet of track was torn up and railroad officials said freight trains were being rerouted through Dayton and Xenia. Passenger trains do not use the tracks involved in the derailment.

The derailment scene is on Urbana's west side.

Juvenile Courts Need Reporter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe ruled today that juvenile courts are courts of record and must provide a court reporter to transcribe the proceedings upon request.

In an opinion sought by Prosecuting Attorney Robert H. Huffer of Pickaway County, Saxbe said juvenile and probate courts are now divisions of the Common Pleas Courts. "It is subject to the procedural requirements of that court," he said.

New Wasteland

Motorists who have traversed the Interstate Highway system this summer are returning from their trips with interesting stories to tell about lack of communications. The ban on billboards has a double edge.

Food, lodging and fuel are items of particular interest to motorists, particularly those traveling the Interstate system and generally possessing no knowledge of their surroundings.

But one can look in vain for signs advertising motels, eating places or particular brands of gasoline. There are none, of course. That is all part of the national beautification program.

Beautiful. Except when one is hungry, sleepy or running low on gasoline. But the highway planners will be quick to point out there are signs at the exits indicating fuel, food and lodging. In just that many words.

None of the signs tell the beautified motorist how far to one of these accommodations, what to expect when he gets there or even what the essentials are that are offered.

He doesn't know whether lodging refers to tourist homes, motels or a plush vacation resort.

As any traveler will readily attest, one encounters all kinds of eating establishments along the highways. A sign which simply says "food" at an exit doesn't begin to tell the story most motorists want to hear.

Many motorists are becoming convinced the way to beautification is not through banning advertisements completely, but controlling them in number and size.

After all, even a high speed motorist has a need now and then to communicate — sometimes rather urgently.

Premature Worry

The North Pole is slowly moving toward Greenland. The pole has been moving at the rate of about half a foot a year in this century, according to scientists.

The reason for the shift, apparently, is melting of Greenland's ice. This melting releases water, which is then more or less evenly distributed around the earth and helps to stabilize it — and also to slow down its rotation around its axis.

The principle is much the same as that employed by an ice skater in a spin. The skater draws his arms in close to increase the speed of the spin and flings them out to slow himself down.

Greenland, close to the pole, is also close to the axis of the earth. A loss of weight there which is redistributed around the earth would do the same thing as the skater's arms.

This change is gradual, and it is this fact which is reassuring. Some scientists have theorized that a mass shifting of the ice mass of the earth could cause a cataclysmic tumbling of its axis by throwing the whole works suddenly out of balance.

Those who permit themselves to worry about such things will probably worry about this, despite the fact that such an event is not foreseeable for thousands of years, at worst.

Young Desperadoes

FBI statistics on crime in the United States continue to be heavily weighted with criminals who have not yet reached voting age.

Despite all that has been said and written about the tragedy of juvenile crime and all the efforts that have been made to restrain the growing tide of youthful offenders, the most recent reports of the FBI show that it has not been checked.

In many areas unarmed citizens are not safe outside locked doors after dark. Gangs of young punks know that in many areas they operate with immunity. The type of immunity which comes from law enforcement regulations, statutes and judicial reasoning which hold the youthful murderer is only half as guilty as his older comrade.

One of the most positive steps toward law and order is the knowledge — based on past examples — that wanton disregard of the safety and rights of others will bring unequivocal punishment sufficiently severe to fit the crime.

Negroes Gain

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Trade columns chronicle continuing progress for Negroes in show business.

Diahann Carroll, starring in the weekly "Julia" series filming for fall television, says: "I'm almost too busy to think about being a Negro."

Producers of Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In" series are shooting network TV's first all-Negro variety special, "Soul." Lou Rawls and Nipsey Russell are among the stars, and Negroes have key production jobs behind the scenes.

Movie producer Jules Dassin, "Topkapi," "Never on Sunday," is filming for Paramount with a Negro cast, a drama of betrayal among civil rights militants. And perhaps the unluckiest fig-assing Negro players is the man who plays Dassin's central character.

Unluckily because, says 6-foot 1, 200-pound Julian Mayfield: "Basically I am a writer, I never really wanted to act. I see people working at acting in an organized way, and it seems almost unfair for me to have this role. But," he grins, "I'm not complaining."

Mayfield, 40, born in South Carolina and reared in Washington, D.C., has a varied background. Author of three published novels "About personal hangups in the ghetto and the civil rights movement in 1961 . . . None went into a second printing."

Prize-winning college orator . . . Actor in off-Broadway plays while also driving a taxi . . . Radio disc jockey and feature writer on an English-language newspaper in San Juan, Puerto Rico . . . Aide for three years to President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

The film, "Up Tight," marks his first film-acting since a bit part 10 years ago. Massive, easy-going, lightly bearded, Mayfield says he's in every scene but about two. He plays "a man who is essentially over the hill, drinks too much, a slob broken down by society, who as a result betrays his best friend, a young militant, for a reward."

Mayfield and costar Ruby Dee helped Dassin write the script. Does he think Negroes have reached their goals in show business?

"By no means, especially in the craft unions. You don't find black people working there. As for acting, black people seem to be in style this year. They might be out of style next January."

CHILD PSYCHOLOGIST Frank's young daughter began squabbling with her baby brother one morning and suddenly pushed over his high chair. Before Dr. Frank could give her what for, she turned to him and asked innocently, "Tell me, Daddy, what compulsion made me do a mean thing like that?"

These are days when it's fashionable to accent the negative. Abstract plays, abstract novels, and politicians with abstract ideas occupy the limelight. Critic Joseph Wood Krutch points out that what made Twigg a world-famous model were the things she DIDN'T have. "The creator," he says, "has become an anti-creator and his greatest achievement is to discover how he can leave out something that has never been left out before."

A promising kid who wanted to know all the answers braced his Sunday School teacher with, "Hey, Mr. Boles, do you think Noah ever did any fishing from that Ark of his?" "I doubt it," countered Mr. Boles soberly. "Remember he only had two worms."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is a colostomy opening into the intestine always permanent? Let me first explain that a colostomy is an artificial opening into the large intestine through which a patient passes fecal matter instead of through the normal rectal opening. This operation is performed as a temporary opening during some severe infections and inflammations of the large intestine. When the underlying condition is healed the colostomy opening is again closed and the normal passage of stool is once more reestablished.

A permanent colostomy opening is usually created when portions of the large intestine are removed because of tumors that obstruct the bowel.

It comes as a great shock to many people when they are first told that a permanent colostomy will be necessary. The psychological distress is understandable because patients cannot imagine how they can go through life in this manner. They learn quickly that there are hundreds of thousands of people who lead perfectly normal lives and are active in business and in sports with such an opening.

There are colostomy clubs all over America composed of dedicated members who are sent out to support new colostomy patients during the first trying days. Patients soon learn that they are odor free and not handicapped but rather are given a new lease of life by this most successful type of operation.

Specially constructed bags now make it possible for these courageous people to continue to function without any detection.

Is ringworm of the skin caused by an actual worm? The name ringworm is confusing because the condition is caused by a fungus. There are many varieties of ringworm that are called by different names depending on the part of the body that is affected. Ringworm of the scalp is known as Tinea capitis. When it is on the body it is called Tinea corporis and when it is on the beard it is known as Tinea barbae. There is also a ringworm that involves the nails, the groin, and the skin in between the toes, commonly known as athlete's foot.

Ringworm must be considered as being contagious although it certainly is not nearly as easily contracted from other people as are the common diseases, such as measles and chicken pox. Cleanliness and good personal hygiene are excellent precautions against passing it on from person to person. Common towels or slippers should be avoided, especially in gymnasiums where the fungus seems to be so prevalent. Ringworm responds to local application in addition to hygienic precautions. There now are a number of excellent medications which, taken by mouth, have remarkable effects on this distressing condition. Griseofulvin is a preparation which is used effectively but only under the doctor's constant supervision.

Ringworm of the scalp occurs rather frequently in children. The circular shape of the skin irritation is probably the basis for the "ring" name attached to it. There is an excellent lamp which is used for diagnosis of Tinea of the scalp. It seems that infected areas of the scalp light up in a special way when this, the Wood lamp, is used.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Women and professional athletes fret most about their health. Women often go to doctors chiefly to add a little variety to their lives, but a pro athlete's whole career hangs upon his health, and he can worry himself into ulcers over it. Even a hangnail bothers an athlete more than it does an ordinary person. He feels even the slightest imperfection in his body machinery is a potential threat to his earning power.

The average dog in America now eats a more balanced diet than the average teen-ager. He has fewer dental cavities, too.

Wearing too - tight clothing is one of the main causes of melancholy and bad temper among adults. It is hard to show much loving kindness when your feet hurt and a choking collar is shutting down the blood supply to your brain. We'd have a more friendly and hopeful national mood if Congress simply passed a law forcing every man and woman over 40 to wear shoes a half size larger and men to wear shirts a half size bigger at the neck.

With so many people becoming amateur painters in order to express their inner personality, one of the big problems of modern living is what to do with one of their creations when you politely admire it and they insist on presenting it to you. We hung one on our living room wall recently. Our cat took one look, arched its back in panic, scrambled to the top of the bookcase and stayed there until we took the painting down.

This is the season of the year when secretaries are at their grumpiest. They've spurned all their savings on an expensive vacation—and all most of them have to show for it is a peeling nose instead of the wealthy finance they had hoped for.

No matter how many character faults a wife may have, a husband can ordinarily put up with her if she has learned how to cook a good dish of scrambled eggs. No man could be happily married to a saint if she messed up his breakfast eggs for 40 years.

A fellow never finds out how few really true-blue friends he has in this world until his cat has kittens and he tries to give them away.

There's never been a perfect marriage on earth since apple pie was first wedded to cheese.

Why is everyone in such a rush nowadays? Don't they realize that life is like an all-day lollipop? Only if you savor it slowly will the flavor last until dark.

Nixon Agony Repeated

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Since Richard Nixon went before the Republican convention as a "unity" candidate, a centrist reaching out to embrace the more malleable party people on the two extremes, his choice of Governor Spiro Agnew of Maryland for the Vice Presidential spot is quite understandable. Nixon needed a man from a border state who had opposed racism, yet refused to be beguiled by the idea that violent protestations should be allowed; a man with a faint ethnic tinge (Agnew's uncontentious Greek forebears won't hurt him with more numerous immigrant stocks); a man who had once been palatable to liberals, as Agnew had undeniably been when he thought Nelson Rockefeller was a candidate for real, yet who had gone over to Nixon as the solid Republican choice; a man with big city experience (Baltimore is in Agnew's bailiwick); and a man who, though he dislikes war as much as anybody, is not, in the depths of his being, a pacifist.

The liberals who were plugging for New York's Mayor John Lindsay or Senator Mark Hatfield of Oregon for the runner-up or back-up job, and who tried to organize a late floor rebellion — the mini-rebellion — in favor of Michigan's George Romney, left Miami Beach in a mood of intense frustration. Unlike Goldwater, Nixon gave them no reason in his acceptance speech for a mass shout in November. But their attitude — and you could hear it on many sides — was that "Nixon has blown it." So — on to Chicago.

But what about Chicago? The crude, compelling and inexorable fact is that Hubert Humphrey, as the presumptive Democratic nominee, is trapped by the same consensus politics that held Dick Nixon in a vise. He is a product of the American system of compromise within parties as well as between them, and he must live or die in accordance with the rules of the game. Like it or not, he faces every dilemma that Nixon faced. And since he is a politician down to the end of his toes, he will almost certainly repeat Dick Nixon's agony if the Democrats nominate him.

The parallels between Miami Beach and Chicago are likely to be startling to the liberals. The Republicans had their glamorous personality, Ronald Reagan, who was widely touted for the Vice Presidency. But Reagan refused with absolute finality to be considered. The Democrats have their glamorous personality, Teddy Kennedy. But he has taken himself out of it.

If Humphrey can't break Teddy Kennedy's reluctance, what then? He has his southern problem, just as Nixon had it. It would help Hubert to fend off the George Wallace threat if he chose Texas's Governor Connally for his running mate. But if Nixon couldn't select Texas's Senator John Tower for fear of alienating too many northern liberals, it is a safe bet that Humphrey will have reservations about picking Connally.

Just as Nixon had his Lindsay-Hatfield problem, so Humphrey has his Gene McCarthy problem. The constitutional rules, inhibit, if they do not forbid, the selection of a President and a Vice President from the same state — and Humphrey and McCarthy both come from Minnesota as Nixon and Lindsay hail from New York. Though the rule could be circumvented by a quick change of residence, it still operates as a psychological barrier. But beyond this, McCarthy's views — or late starter Senator McGovern's — would alienate the same sort of people who could not stomach John Lindsay or Mark Hatfield. The Democratic South would be revolted by McCarthy for Vice President. And McCarthy's stand on Vietnam, which is very like John Lindsay's, must be obnoxious to those who rule a cut-and-run policy in Vietnam as quite out of the question.

Even if Nixon wanted to liquidate the war by withdrawal, he would face the displeasure of former President Eisenhower if he made any motion to do it. Just so Hubert Humphrey must conciliate the needs of Lyndon Johnson in holding out for an honorable peace. LBJ doesn't want to look bad in the history books, as he would certainly look if he were to be remembered as the man who surrendered to Ho Chi Minh.

Thus the parallels continue to the bitter end. If Hubert Humphrey can wriggle out of his trap with more finesse than Dick Nixon, he will have earned a genius' right to the Presidency.

New Wasteland

Motorists who have traversed the Interstate Highway system this summer are returning from their trips with interesting stories to tell about lack of communications. The ban on billboards has a double edge.

Food, lodging and fuel are items of particular interest to motorists, particularly those traveling the Interstate system and generally possessing no knowledge of their surroundings.

But one can look in vain for signs advertising motels, eating places or particular brands of gasoline. There are none, of course. That is all part of the national beautification program.

Beautiful. Except when one is hungry, sleepy or running low on gasoline. But the highway planners will be quick to point out there are signs at the exits indicating fuel, food and lodging. In just that many words.

None of the signs tell the beautified motorist how far to one of these accommodations, what to expect when he gets there or even what the essentials are that are offered.

He doesn't know whether lodging refers to tourist homes, motels or a plush vacation resort.

As any traveler will readily attest, one encounters all kinds of eating establishments along the highways. A sign which simply says "food" at an exit doesn't begin to tell the story most motorists want to hear.

Many motorists are becoming convinced the way to beautification is not through banning advertisements completely, but controlling them in number and size.

After all, even a high speed motorist has a need now and then to communicate — sometimes rather urgently.

Premature Worry

The North Pole is slowly moving toward Greenland. The pole has been moving at the rate of about half a foot a year in this century, according to scientists.

The reason for the shift, apparently, is melting of Greenland's ice. This melting releases water, which is then more or less evenly distributed around the earth and helps to stabilize it — and also to slow down its rotation around its axis.

The principle is much the same as that employed by an ice skater in a spin. The skater draws his arms in close to increase the speed of the spin and flings them out to slow himself down.

Greenland, close to the pole, is also close to the axis of the earth. A loss of weight there which is redistributed around the earth would do the same thing as the skater's arms.

This change is gradual, and it is this fact which is reassuring. Some scientists have theorized that a mass shifting of the ice mass of the earth could cause a cataclysmic tumbling of its axis by throwing the whole works suddenly out of balance.

Those who permit themselves to worry about such things will probably worry about this, despite the fact that such an event is not foreseeable for thousands of years, at worst.

Young Desperadoes

FBI statistics on crime in the United States continue to be heavily weighted with criminals who have not yet reached voting age.

Despite all that has been said and written about the tragedy of juvenile crime and all the efforts that have been made to restrain the growing tide of youthful offenders, the most recent reports of the FBI show that it has not been checked.

In many areas unarmed citizens are not safe outside locked doors after dark. Gangs of young punks know that in many areas they operate with immunity. The type of immunity which comes from law enforcement regulations, statutes and judicial reasoning which hold the youthful murderer is only half as guilty as his older comrade.

One of the most positive steps toward law and order is the knowledge — based on past examples — that wanton disregard of the safety and rights of others will bring unequivocal punishment sufficiently severe to fit the crime.

Negroes Gain

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Trade columns chronicle continuing progress for Negroes in show business.

Diaphan Carroll, starring in the weekly "Julia" series filming for fall television, says: "I'm almost too busy to think about being a Negro."

Producers of Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-in" series are shooting network TV's first all-Negro variety special, "Soul." Lou Rawls and Nipsey Russell are among the stars, and Negroes have key production jobs behind the scenes.

Movie producer Jules Dassin, "Topkapi," "Never on Sunday," is filming for Paramount with a Negro cast, a drama of betrayal among civil rights militants. And perhaps the unlikely figure ascending Negro players is the man who plays Dassin's central character.

Unlikely because, says 6-foot 1, 200-pound Julian Mayfield: "Basically I am a writer, I never really wanted to act. I see people working at acting in an organized way, and it seems almost unfair for me to have this role. But," he grins, "I'm not complaining."

Mayfield, 40, born in South Carolina and reared in Washington, D.C., has a varied background.

Author of three published novels "About personal hangups in the ghetto and the civil rights movement in 1961 . . . None went into a second printing."

Prize-winning college orator . . . Actor in off-Broadway plays while also driving a taxi . . . Radio disc jockey and feature writer on an English-language newspaper in San Juan, Puerto Rico . . . Aide for three years to President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

The film, "Up Tight," marks his first film-acting since a bit part 10 years ago. Massive, easy-going, lightly bearded, Mayfield says he's in every scene but about two. He plays "a man who is essentially over the hill, drinks too much, a slob broken down by society, who as a result betrays his best friend, a young militant, for a reward."

Mayfield and costar Ruby Dee helped Dassin write the script.

Does he think Negroes have reached their goals in show business?

"By no means, especially in the craft unions. You don't find black people working there."

"As for acting, black people seem to be in style this year. They might be out of style next January."

States Continue Long Struggle Against Child Abuse

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The states have moved fast in recent years to curb abuse of children — but they still have far to go.

Even though all 50 states have legislation against child abuse, more than 9,000 such cases were reported last year.

"There still is a long way to go before child protection becomes a reality in all geographic areas of every state," says Vincent De Francis, director of the children's division of the American Humane Association. Longer road to travel in terms of establishing in every community a protective service program adequate in size and quality to meet the needs of our country's neglected, abused and exploited children," he added.

"The neglect and abuse of children appears to be increasing," a special committee of the New York County Medical Society reported recently.

Illinois also saw signs of an increase. In April, 58 cases of abuse were reported, the highest ever recorded in one month. Child abuse ranges from such active harm as a blow with fist or stick to such passive torture as prolonged diaper rash or starvation.

The American Humane Association made an analysis of 662 cases, including 178 in which the child died, that were reported in newspapers in 1962. It found the persons responsible were the fathers in 38 per cent of the cases, the mothers in 29 per cent, both parents in 5 per cent, stepmothers in 14 per cent, stepfathers in 2 per cent. Blame also has been placed on babysitters, foster parents, teachers and others.

Donald H. Schlosser of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services said common excuses for bruises and broken bones are: "He fell down the stairs," or, "He tumbled out of his high chair." Another frequent explanation is that the parent or caretaker started to spank the child to discipline him, and overdid it.

Mistreatment is much older than legislation against it. An article in the American Medical Association Journal a few years ago noted: "Animals in the United States were legally protected from cruel treatment some years before the same protection was granted children."

But legislating in that area gained speed in the 1960s. Now 50 states have adopted laws on reporting child abuse.

Reporting suspected cruelty is mandatory in 44 states. In Alaska, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Texas and Washington the statutes are permissive, reading "may report" rather than "shall report."

Punishment varies for those who deliberately hurt children. Since 1899 Florida has had a law forbidding "torturing or unlawfully punishing" youngsters under the age of 16. Violation was a misdemeanor until 1965, when it was upgraded to a felony punishable by $2,000 fine or two years in prison.

In neighboring Georgia a similar 1878 enactment provides a maximum penalty of a year in prison and a $1,000 fine. But few parents or guardians are imprisoned because one aim is trying to keep a family together.

An Ohio law put on the books in 1924 covers a range of offenses and provides a spread in punishment from 30 days in jail to death in the electric chair.

Penalties differ. In Indiana, for example, they range up to 1 to 5 years for assault with intent to do bodily harm and to 2 to 14 years for assault with intent to kill.

Pennsylvania recently enacted a bill making aggravated cruelty to minors a crime. The legislation stiffens the penalty for simple cruelty to minors to a maximum $500 fine or 90 days in jail, or both. In instances involving grievous bodily harm the defendant could get up to four years in prison or a fine of $3,000.

There is a variation of opinion about present laws and systems. De Francis reported in a recent issue of the Juvenile Court Judges Journal on a two-year study of the child abuse field.

"Most disturbing," he wrote, "was the finding that no state and no community has developed a child protective service program adequate in size to meet the service needs of all reported cases of child neglect and abuse."

"The law is adequate," commented John Scanlon, director of research for Georgia's Department of Family and Children Services. "We need to educate people about the law."

Joseph H. Roe of the Montana Welfare Department said that 15 or 20 cases have been reported each year since the reporting law was enacted in 1965.

"It's better than before the law," he said. "But my own opinion is that there are many abuse cases not being reported."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Volunteer Work or Household Chores?

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who will not let her 16-year-old daughter do volunteer work in a local hospital, because she figures if the girl wants to work for nothing, there is plenty of work for her to do around the house? Abby, that mother is mine, and I don't think she has the right to tell me whether or not I can work for nothing.

I want to do something worthwhile with my time, and I know I would like hospital work. Besides, hospitals NEED volunteer help. It's not like I don't do anything around the house, either. I do, but I think I should be able to do what I want to do in my spare time, don't you! Please put your answer in the paper so my mother can see it.

WANTS TO WORK
DEAR WANTS: I agree that young people who want to do volunteer work should not be discouraged. But I think your problem is that you and your mother need a clearer understanding as to what your home duties are and how much

Air Combat Tests Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Low flying C-130 Hercules military transports are maneuvering over South Central Ohio points in a series of flight patterns under simulated combat conditions, Lockbourne Air Force Base reported Tuesday.

The base said the low-altitude flights are necessary for training because this is how missions would be flown during a crisis.

The planes are reported to come in low and fast, one after another and will be 2,000 feet apart. All flight patterns have been planned to avoid private airports, heavily populated areas, schools, livestock yards, poultry farms and like establishments.

Among points on or near the flight patterns are Zanesville, Lancaster, Circleville, Nelsonville, Chillicothe, Athens, Waverly, Jackson, Middleport and Gallipolis.

My father is a surgeon and sometimes he stands under those hot lights and sweats for anywhere to 3 to 12 hours at a time, and if she doesn't think that's hard work she is out of her ever lovin' mind. There have been days when my father has had one emergency after another and he didn't get more than 3 hours sleep in 2 days.

I am not even mentioning the strain on him when he knows he has a person's life in his hands.

My advice to that woman is to pay the bill and shut up her big mouth. I am sure the doctor did everything he could to save her husband, and anyway, maybe it was the Lord's will that he died.

Abby, I hope you won't think I am disrespectful in the language I used in this letter, but I am pretty heated up over this. No one realizes how hard most doctors work.

Marriage Solemnized In Mansfield Church

The marriage of Miss Susan Jean Lanning and Jerry W. Neff was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, August 10, at the Grace Brethren Church in Mansfield. Officiating for the rite was the Rev. R. Paul Miller Jr.

Final Round Of Ohio Demo Hearings Starts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The final round of Ohio's Democratic platform hearings begins here today, and party leaders then plan to package the recommendations for delivery to the national committee.

Sessions to hear platform proposals were held earlier this week in Cleveland and Cincinnati.

The national committee opens sessions Sunday.

Tuesday's session in Cincinnati heard young Democrat leaders voice strong criticism of present party policies and challenges were issued to the party to find an "acceptable" presidential candidate for the nation's youth.

Ashley Brown, former president of the Ohio Young Democrats, said Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was "not acceptable" to a large number of young people as a presidential nominee—saying Humphrey would only continue policies of the present administration.

"Brown expressed disillusionment with the Democratic party. 'It is becoming somewhat like the Republican party—unresponsive to youth,' he said.

Pat Keefer, president of the Young Democrats of Hamilton County, warned that 10 per cent of young voters would not vote unless the party adopted strong platform on the Vietnam issue.

"I not only dislike this war, I hate it," she said before the session. "While they talk (in Paris), more people die. . . I just want to plead with you to do everything you can to come out with a strong platform on Vietnam."

Her brother—21-year-old Dave was killed in the Vietnam fighting last week. She read before the session the Defense Department telegram which notified her family of his death.

HHH Tops 800 Votes In AP Poll

WASHINGTON (AP)—A caucus of the big Ohio delegation has propelled Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's solid first ballot strength at the upcoming Democratic national convention past 800 in The Associated Press survey of delegates.

But he is still nearly 500 votes away from the 1,312 needed for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The 60 votes cast by Ohio delegates for Humphrey at Monday night's caucus were offset somewhat by small losses in Utah, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Wyoming, but the vice president continues to hold a considerable lead over Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Humphrey's total in the AP poll, which is based on primary results, pledges and the results of caucuses and AP delegate checks, stands at 824½—up about 50 in the past 10 days. McCarthy stands second with 436½. Only delegates who say they will vote for a candidate are counted, not those leaning to one.

The special order catalog service, successfully operating in the Morgan & Lindsey and Terry Farris subsidiaries, has been installed in 100 smaller Murphy stores and is expected to aid substantial sales volume during the second half of this year through expanded services to customers in higher-ticket merchandise not normally carried in the smaller store assortment.

provement are two new major cost items: the 10 per cent surtax retroactive to Jan. 1 equal to 6 cents per share and the 14 per cent increase in minimum wage rates effective Feb. 1, 1968.

Sales for the six months set a new record of $148,503,000—up 7.3 per cent. On June 30 there were 512 stores in operation compared with 508 a year ago. During the first half of 1968, four new stores were opened, four were closed and 10 renovated or enlarged.

The Company's accelerated expansion program calls for opening 10 or more new stores in October, the largest number to be opened in one month in over 15 years. This group will add approximately 300,000 square feet of area in time for the heavy Christmas selling period. Among the October openings are five new A-A stores—the Company's hot line, high-competitive operation, geared for faster turnover, greater ease in customer shopping and highly-expanded sales volume. Seven additional conventional stores are expected to open by year end and are also included in the 52 locations now under construction, lease or option. The Company expects to have in operation by 1969 its first "free standing" unit offering food and automotive services in addition to the normal lines.

The special order catalog service, successfully operating in the Morgan & Lindsey and Terry Farris subsidiaries, has been installed in 100 smaller Murphy stores and is expected to aid substantial sales volume during the second half of this year through expanded services to customers in higher-ticket merchandise not normally carried in the smaller store assortment.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, SCLC president, told an airport news conference on his arrival Tuesday that tradition might be shattered with a presidential endorsement. He made it plain that Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon would not be on the receiving end of any endorsement.

Abernathy said he was disappointed that the Republicans had once again picked Nixon to head their ticket. He said Nixon "is not concerned about black people and poor people at all."

He also termed the field of Democratic presidential hopefuls "very, very sparse."

He said he would testify before the Democratic National Convention's platform committee in Chicago next week and that the Democrats, "if they want the black vote . . . had better write something progressive."

"We're going to say to the Democrats that we are sick and tired of being last hired and first fired. We demand a guaranteed national income and a more equal distribution of wealth."

Final Round Of Ohio Demo Hearings Starts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The final round of Ohio's Democratic platform hearings begins here today, and party leaders then plan to package the recommendations for delivery to the national committee.

Sessions to hear platform proposals were held earlier this week in Cleveland and Cincinnati.

The national committee opens sessions Sunday.

Tuesday's session in Cincinnati heard young Democrats' leaders voice strong criticism of present party policies and challenges were issued to the party to find an "acceptable" presidential candidate for the nation's youth.

Ashley Brown, former president of the Ohio Young Democrats, said Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was "not acceptable" to a large number of young people as a presidential nominee—saying Humphrey would only continue policies of the present administration.

"Brown expressed disillusionment with the Democratic party. 'It is becoming somewhat like the Republican party — unresponsive to youth,' he said.

Pat Keefe, president of the Young Democrats of Hamilton County, warned that 10 per cent of young voters would not vote unless the party adopted strong platform on the Vietnam issue. 'I not only dislike this war, I hate it,' she said before the session. 'While they talk (in Paris), more people die. . . I just want to plead with you to do everything you can to come out with a strong platform on Vietnam.'

Her brother—21-year-old Dave was killed in the Vietnam fighting last week. She read before the session the Defense Department telegram which notified her family of his death.

HHH Tops 800 Votes In AP Poll

WASHINGTON (AP) — A caucus of the big Ohio delegation has propelled Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's solid first ballot strength at the upcoming Democratic national convention past 800 in The Associated Press survey of delegates.

But he is still nearly 500 votes away from the 1,312 needed for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The 60 votes cast by Ohio delegates for Humphrey at Monday night's caucus were offset somewhat by small losses in Utah, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Wyoming, but the vice president continues to hold a considerable lead over Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Humphrey's total in the AP poll, which is based on primary results, pledges and the results of caucuses and AP delegate checks, stands at 824½—up about 50 in the past 10 days. McCarthy stands second with 436½. Only delegates who say they will vote for a candidate are counted, not those leaning to one.

The special order catalog service, successfully operating in the Morgan & Lindsey and Terry Farris subsidiaries, has been installed in 100 smaller Murphy stores and is expected to aid substantial sales volume during the second half of this year through expanded services to customers in higher-ticket merchandise not normally carried in the smaller store assortment.

Business Briefs

Net earnings of G. C. Murphy Company for the first six months of 1968 of 61 cents per share were announced by E. L. Paxton, President. Earnings before Federal tax were $5,071,000, an improvement of 15.6 per cent over the corresponding period for last year and were the highest since 1960. Reflected in the improvement are two new major cost items: the 10 per cent surtax retroactive to Jan. 1 equal to 6 cents per share and the 14 per cent increase in minimum wage rates effective Feb. 1, 1968.

He said he would testify before the Democratic National Convention's platform committee in Chicago next week and that the Democrats, "if they want the black vote . . . had better write something progressive."

"We're going to say to the Democrats that we are sick and tired of being last hired and first fired. We demand a guaranteed national income and a more equal distribution of wealth."

SCLC May Back Demo Candidate

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Southern Christian Leadership Conference opens its annual meeting today, and there were indications that the civil rights group might endorse a candidate for president before the convention is over.

The Rev. Ralph Dabner Abernathy, SCLC president, told an airport news conference on his arrival Tuesday that tradition might be shattered with a presidential endorsement. He made it plain that Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon would not be on the receiving end of any endorsement.

Abernathy said he was disappointed that the Republicans had once again picked Nixon to head their ticket. He said Nixon "is not concerned about black people and poor people at all."

State Legion Tournament Tightens Up

VIENNA (AP) — Space leaders and scientists from 67 nations convene today to begin two weeks of discussion on how best to apply the practical benefits of space technology to the social and economic advancement of mankind.

The two major space powers, the United States and the Soviet Union, will dominate the meeting, the first space conference ever held by the United Nations. U.N. committees have been preparing for it for two years.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, who is expected to address the conference later, described the effort in a statement as a major step in bridging the gap between space powers and other nations.

He expressed hope that the meeting would not only explain the practical benefits of space exploration, but also would ultimately result in joint practical ventures that would bring these benefits to all nations and thereby help to alleviate some of mankind's most pressing economic and social problems.

Xenia Man Killed

SLADE, Ky. (AP) — Watson M. Brown, 33, Xenia, Ohio, was killed Tuesday when his car ran off Mountain Parkway two miles east of here and struck a guardrail.

Hydrogen Sulfide Gas Said Cause of 5 Men's Deaths

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Hydrogen sulfide, a highly lethal gas that can be produced by decaying organic matter, has been identified as the agent that caused five persons to topple over dead after they peered into the hold of a fishing boat.

Dr. Wallace M. Graves Jr., a Fort Myers pathologist, said Tuesday night the deaths were traced to hydrogen sulfide after autopsies and extensive testing of samples taken from the boat. The men died Sunday after being exposed to the gas while preparing to unload fish from their boat, the Novelty, at the Protein Product Co. docks at Charlotte Harbour. Authorities said the five men died within a two-minute period.

A sixth man, Lawrence Finley, was revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and is reported recovering.

Authorities said the deaths came within seconds after one of the men, Francis D. Webb, 23, of Peace Dale, R.I., turned on a huge hose used to wash down the hold of the boat. The hose also was used as a vacuum tube to remove the water and the ship's cargo of menhaden and herring.

Graves said his studies had not identified the source of the gas, and Lee County investigator James Loeffler said his office was continuing its attempt to identify the source.

The pathologist said the gas is highly lethal in concentrated form. He refused to speculate on how the gas found on the boat was produced, but said it can be generated by decomposition of organic material.

Graves said the gas in the boat, which remains tied at the company docks, has dissipated.

Police Widows Get Compensation

CLEVELAND (AP) — A U.S. Department of Labor official said Tuesday widows and children of three Cleveland policemen shot and killed last month are eligible for federal compensation under a bill passed by Congress last April.

Webb dropped after he turned on the hose to wash down the fish in the hold. Authorities said the other men keeled over as they peered into the hold.

Joseph C. Brown, assistant deputy commissioner of the departments' Bureau of Employee Compensation here, said under the plan the widow receives 40 per cent of her dead husband's wage, and each child receives 15 per cent up to a combined maximum of 75 per cent, as well as regular cost of living increases.

State Legion Tournament Tightens Up

VIENNA (AP) — Space leaders and scientists from 67 nations convene today to begin two weeks of discussion on how best to apply the practical benefits of space technology to the social and economic advancement of mankind.

The two major space powers, the United States and the Soviet Union, will dominate the meeting, the first space conference ever held by the United Nations. U.N. committees have been preparing for it for two years.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, who is expected to address the conference later, described the effort in a statement as a major step in bridging the gap between space powers and other nations.

He expressed hope that the meeting would not only explain the practical benefits of space exploration, but also would ultimately result in joint practical ventures that would bring these benefits to all nations and thereby help to alleviate some of mankind's most pressing economic and social problems.

Xenia Man Killed

SLADE, Ky. (AP) — Watson M. Brown, 33, Xenia, Ohio, was killed Tuesday when his car ran off Mountain Parkway two miles east of here and struck a guardrail.

Hydrogen Sulfide Gas Said Cause of 5 Men's Deaths

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Hydrogen sulfide, a highly lethal gas that can be produced by decaying organic matter, has been identified as the agent that caused five persons to topple over dead after they peered into the hold of a fishing boat.

Dr. Wallace M. Graves Jr., a Fort Myers pathologist, said Tuesday night the deaths were traced to hydrogen sulfide after autopsies and extensive testing of samples taken from the boat. The men died Sunday after being exposed to the gas while preparing to unload fish from their boat, the Novelty, at the Protein Product Co. docks at Charlotte Harbour. Authorities said the five men died within a two-minute period.

A sixth man, Lawrence Finley, was revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and is reported recovering.

Authorities said the deaths came within seconds after one of the men, Francis D. Webb, 23, of Peace Dale, R.I., turned on a huge hose used to wash down the hold of the boat. The hose also was used as a vacuum tube to remove the water and the ship's cargo of menhaden and herring.

Graves said his studies had not identified the source of the gas, and Lee County investigator James Loeffler said his office was continuing its attempt to identify the source.

The pathologist said the gas is highly lethal in concentrated form. He refused to speculate on how the gas found on the boat was produced, but said it can be generated by decomposition of organic material.

Graves said the gas in the boat, which remains tied at the company docks, has dissipated.

Police Widows Get Compensation

CLEVELAND (AP) — A U.S. Department of Labor official said Tuesday widows and children of three Cleveland policemen shot and killed last month are eligible for federal compensation under a bill passed by Congress last April.

Webb dropped after he turned on the hose to wash down the fish in the hold. Authorities said the other men keeled over as they peered into the hold.

Joseph C. Brown, assistant deputy commissioner of the departments' Bureau of Employee Compensation here, said under the plan the widow receives 40 per cent of her dead husband's wage, and each child receives 15 per cent up to a combined maximum of 75 per cent, as well as regular cost of living increases.

Polish Jews Leave Homeland To Escape Bleak Future

WARSAW (AP) — There is a sad Jewish exodus these days from Poland. It isn't big. There are only 25,000 or 30,000 Jews left in Poland. Those leaving are doctors, teachers, lawyers, actors, engineers, journalists, mostly professional people. From various estimates, about 800 may have left since June, 1967.

They go disappointed, bitter, feeling there is no future for them here. And these survivors of Hitler's genocide which nearly obliterated Poland's 3.5 million Jews, represent a loss to the state. The exodus is the result of an anti-Israel campaign which began a year ago after the defeat of the Arab states and a more recent "anti-Zionist" campaign launched by the Communist regime after an outbreak of student demonstrations and rioting last March. In June, 1967, party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka denounced Polish Jews and non-Jewish Poles who welcomed Israel's victory over the Arabs. He said the door was open to Jews wishing to go to Israel. This year, after the March disturbances, the party launched a campaign of rallies and press diatribes heaping primary blame on Zionists for the trouble. In a subsequent nationwide purge involving both Jews and non-Jews, considerable publicity was given to the dismissal of Jews. At rallies, slogans demanded that Zionists be purged from the party.

The director of a scientific institute which had had many Jews on its staff and lost a number of them said his organization hadn't done any useful work since April. Poles must sign an "application" to give up Polish citizenship in connection with their "departure for good" to another country. Jews are allowed to emigrate to Israel. They apply for visas to the Dutch Embassy, which has been handling Israeli affairs here since Poland broke off relations in June, 1967. The embassy refuses to reveal the number of visas being issued. # Polish Jews Leave Homeland To Escape Bleak Future

WARSAW (AP) — There is a sad Jewish exodus these days from Poland.

It isn't big. There are only 25,000 or 30,000 Jews left in Poland.

Those leaving are doctors, teachers, lawyers, actors, engineers, journalists, mostly professional people. From various estimates, about 800 may have left since June, 1967.

They go disappointed, bitter, feeling there is no future for them here. And these survivors of Hitler's genocide which nearly obliterated Poland's 3.5 million Jews, represent a loss to the state.

The exodus is the result of an anti-Israel campaign which began a year ago after the defeat of the Arab states and a more recent "anti-Zionist" campaign launched by the Communist regime after an outbreak of student demonstrations and rioting last March.

In June, 1967, party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka denounced Polish Jews and non-Jewish Poles who welcomed Israel's victory over the Arabs. He said the door was open to Jews wishing to go to Israel.

This year, after the March disturbances, the party launched a campaign of rallies and press diatribes heaping primary blame on Zionists for the trouble.

In a subsequent nationwide purge involving both Jews and non-Jews, considerable publicity was given to the dismissal of Jews. At rallies, slogans demanded that Zionists be purged from the party.

The director of a scientific institute which had many Jews on its staff and lost a number of them said his organization hadn't done any useful work since April.

Let's Tour Ohio

Indian Mounds, Scenery Draw Visitors to Newark

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short trips to top Ohio travel attractions prepared for the Circleville Herald by the Columbus Auto Club Travel Department.

A vastly-improved Dillon State Park, outstanding Indian mounds and a fine arboretum are highlights of an easy and pleasant tour of the area between Newark and Zanesville.

Dillon is located on Ohio 146 on a reservoir administered by the Corp of Engineers, where this year more than $4-million in improvements have been made. These include 29 vacation cabins, a new beach and bathhouse, camping sites and an outdoor sports area, including trap and skeet shooting and rifle ranges.

The park also offers outstanding scenery, plus picnic, fishing and boating with motors of unlimited horsepower.

At Newark are the remains of one of the most famous systems of prehistoric Indian mounds in the country. Best preserved is the Mound Builders Memorial on Ohio 79, a great circular earthwork 1,200 feet in diameter and with the effigy of an eagle in the center. A small museum is nearby.

Another Indian memorial is at Flint Ridge, north of Ohio 440 on County Road 668. Here the red men quarried flint, Ohio's gem stone, to make arrowheads. The memorial has a new museum, which is open to visitors daily, except Monday, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is little to choose from in next season's network television schedules for the viewer on the lookout for something new.

Off-beat, and almost daring, then, is the format of a series called "That's Life," which will combine situation comedy and musical comedy.

The series, sold to ABC as an idea and without a pilot program, is the brainchild of Marvin Marx, for the past 17 years on Jackie Gleason's writing staff.

Marx, a comedy writer whose career dates back to the days of radio's Fred Allen show and The Burns and Allen show, has been occupied recently turning Gleason's old "Honeymooners" into musical comedy TV shows for the Great One.

But he insists he has been husbanding the "That's Life" idea for a decade, and thought of it originally as a vehicle for Mike Nichols and Elaine May. The gimmick is simple. The series will start with a boy-meets-girl show, and follow along week-by-week with two principles through the courtship, marriage, first fight, move to suburbia and the arrival of the first child.

Presumably the themes could be extended indefinitely, since they are the most familiar themes for situation comedy. Where "That's Life" will be different will be in its use of song—three original numbers and three well-known hits of past years per show—and a bit of incidental plot-moving dancing.

Robert Morse, an established musical comedy performer, will play the husband and a virtual unknown, E. J. (for Edna Jeanne) Peaker, will be the young wife. Emphasis in the show will be on guest stars like Shelley Berman and Sid Caesar, cast in roles that permit them to move logically into their specialties: Berman's cholerish telephone calls or Caesar's mimicry.

"It would be impossible to do a complete, new musical comedy each week on television," said Marx, "but I think that it is perfectly possible to handle it entertainingly each week where you have continuing, identifiable characters and a continuing story line."

How does Jackie Gleason feel about the project?

"Well," said Marx, "He wished me good luck."

If Marx' concept works, it could start a whole new trend in variety shows. If it drops by the wayside, it may be counted as a brave experiment in a year that is notable for sticking close to the tried and true.

Sit-In Out

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The latest craze in South Africa is to have a solo "sit-in" in a snake pit. World records have been claimed in different parts of the country but authorities here thought it a bit much when plans were announced for an 11-year-old boy, Sydney Crawford, to spend 10 days with snakes as his only companions. The family's first two calls on a newly installed telephone were orders from the local magistrate and police sergeant to drop the whole idea.

On Ohio 13, south of Newark, is Dawes Arboretum, 525 acres of virgin forest and formally planted sections with plant life in bloom in season from February through November. The grounds contain many pioneer relics, including log cabins and a Civil War vintage residence. The grounds may be toured and there is a shelter house and picnic facilities.

West of Newark on Ohio 16 is Granville, reminiscent of a New England village and with the attractive campus of Denison University, while east in Zanesville is the unique "Y" bridge, which carried Ohio 440 over the Licking and Muskingum Rivers.

AA suggests this route to the tour area. From Circleville, go northeast on U.S. 22 to Lancaster and Jct. with Ohio Route 37; north on Ohio Route 37 to Jct. with I-70; east on I-70 to Jct. with Ohio Route 79; north on Ohio Route 79 into the tour area.

The park also offers outstanding scenery, plus picnic, fishing and boating with motors of unlimited horsepower.

At Newark are the remains of one of the most famous systems of prehistoric Indian mounds in the country. Best preserved is the Mound Builders Memorial on Ohio 79, a great circular earthwork 1,200 feet in diameter and with the effigy of an eagle in the center. A small museum is nearby.

Another Indian memorial is at Flint Ridge, north of Ohio 440 on County Road 668. Here the red men quarried flint, Ohio's gem stone, to make arrowheads. The memorial has a new museum, which is open to visitors daily, except Monday, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is little to choose from in next season's network television schedules for the viewer on the lookout for something new.

Off-beat, and almost daring, then, is the format of a series called "That's Life," which will combine situation comedy and musical comedy.

The series, sold to ABC as an idea and without a pilot program, is the brainchild of Marvin Marx, for the past 17 years on Jackie Gleason's writing staff.

Marx, a comedy writer whose career dates back to the days of radio's Fred Allen show and The Burns and Allen show, has been occupied recently turning Gleason's old "Honeymooners" into musical comedy TV shows for the Great One.

But he insists he has been husbanding the "That's Life" idea for a decade, and thought of it originally as a vehicle for Mike Nichols and Elaine May.

The gimmick is simple. The series will start with a boy-meets-girl show, and follow along week-by-week with two principles through the courtship, marriage, first fight, move to suburbia and the arrival of the first child.

Presumably the themes could be extended indefinitely, since they are the most familiar themes for situation comedy. Where "That's Life" will be different will be in its use of song — three original numbers and three well-known hits of past years per show — and a bit of incidental plot-moving dancing.

Robert Morse, an established musical comedy performer, will play the husband and a virtual unknown, E. J. (for Edra Jeanne) Peaker, will be the young wife. Emphasis in the show will be on guest stars like Shelley Berman and Sid Caesar, cast in roles that permit them to move logically into their specialties: Berman's choleric telephone calls or Caesar's mimicry.

"It would be impossible to do a complete, new musical comedy each week on television," said Marx, "but I think that it is perfectly possible to handle it entertainingly each week where we have continuing, identifiable characters and a continuing story line."

"How does Jackie Gleason feel about the project?"

"Well," said Marx, "He wished me good luck."

"If Marx' concept works, it could start a whole new trend in variety shows. If it drops by the wayside, it may be counted as a brave experiment in a year that is notable for sticking close to the tried and true."

Sit-In Out

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The latest craze in South Africa is to have a solo "sit-in" in a snake pit. World records have been claimed in different parts of the country but authorities here thought it a bit much when plans were announced for an 11-year-old boy, Sydney Crawford, to spend 10 days with snakes as his only companions. The family's first two calls on a newly installed telephone were orders from the local magistrate and police sergeant to drop the whole idea.

On Ohio 13, south of Newark, is Dawes Arboretum, 525 acres of virgin forest and formally planted sections with plant life in bloom in season from February through November. The grounds contain many pioneer relics, including log cabins and a Civil War vintage residence. The grounds may be toured and there is a shelter house and picnic facilities.

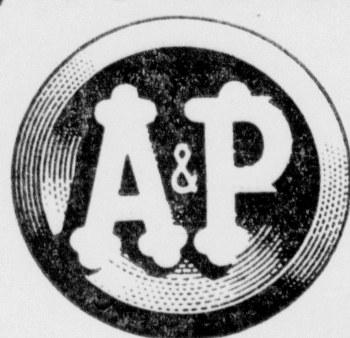

West of Newark on Ohio 16 is Granville, reminiscent of a New England village and with the attractive campus of Denison University, while east in Zanesville is the unique "Y" bridge, which carried Ohio 440 over the Licking and Muskingum Rivers.

AA suggests this route to the tour area. From Circleville, go northeast on U.S. 22 to Lancaster and Jct. with Ohio Route 37; north on Ohio Route 37 to Jct. with I-70; east on I-70 to Jct. with Ohio Route 79; north on Ohio Route 79 into the tour area.

Saints Obtain Karl Sweetan From Lions to Gain Power

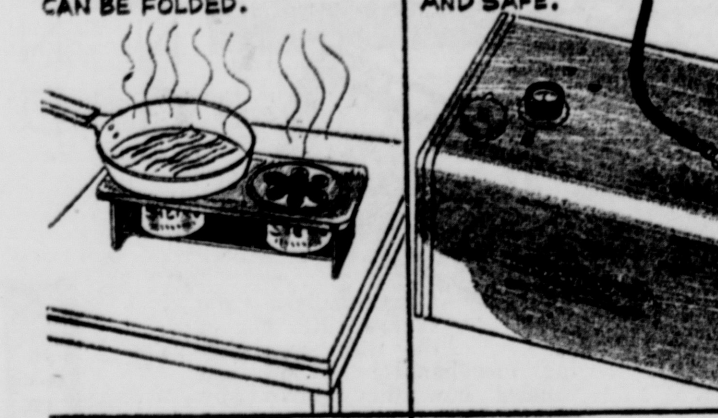

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New Orleans Saints are making every effort to come marching in to their second National Football League season as strong as possible at the quarterback position.
They obtained Karl Sweetan, the 25-year-old third-year quarterback, from the Detroit Lions Tuesday in a trade for Walter "Flea" Roberts, a split end, plus an undisclosed draft choice.
"We are getting a young and experienced quarterback in Sweetan," said Vic Schwent, New Orleans' general manager. "Bill Killmer still is our No. 1 quarterback, but Sweetan figures in our plans for the future here."
The Saints' future is bound to be brighter than their one-year past. They failed to make capital of their first chance in the NFL, finishing in last place in the Eastern Conference's Capital Division with a 3-11 record.

Piqua, Ashtabula, Marietta and Kent posted second losses and were eliminated.

Team No. 7 Grabs Lead in PCC Golf

Team No. 7, the second place finisher at the end of the second set, grabbed the early third set lead Tuesday with 18 1/2 points in Pickaway Country Club Men's League.
The team, made up of Tom McGuire, Bob Moon, Jasper Hedges, Wink Wellington, Ron Berlin, Bob Dahl, Larry Priest and Merv Odenbaugh, holds a half point lead over team No. 6.
Following the first two places are teams No. 2, No. 4, No. 1, No. 3, No. 5 and No. 8. Team No. 5 won the second set.
Low gross was Tom McGuire with 35 while John Payne's 32 was good for low net.

Lewis Qualifies For Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Amateur champion Bob Lewis Jr. of Warren was one of 14 golfers who qualified Tuesday for the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship to be held here Aug. 28-31.
Mairs of Minneapolis, president of the International Golf Sponsors Association, representing 33 of the 43 men who put up the $5.6 million to conduct the rich pro tour.
Bringing a long-simmering feud to a sudden and dramatic head, the players announced in New York Tuesday that they were breaking with the PGA and preparing to set up a tour of their own.
Through their attorney, Sam Gates of New York, they said they planned no immediate boycott but would honor all existing contracts, which include all 1968 tournaments and at least a couple in 1969—the Bob Hope Classic at Palm Desert, Calif., and the Doral at Miami.
The $250,000 Westchester Classic Opens at Rye, N.Y., Thursday.
But a number of questions remain unanswered:

PGA Player Revolt Shakes Golf World

NEW YORK (AP) — The multi-million-dollar structure of big time tournament golf trembled today under the impact of a player revolt that left sponsors, television officials and the pros themselves in a state of chaos and confusion.
"I think we had to take the action, but I'm a little scared," said Masters champion Bob Goalby, expressing the sentiments of a large number of the affluent golfing gypsies.
"I signed with the players, but I haven't been in on any of the ground work," said Arnold Palmer, the game's richest and perhaps most popular competitor. "I think this action may result in more negotiation. It would be better if the PGA and players could work together."
"I've received calls from all over the country in the past few weeks from sponsors who are fed up to here," said Angus M.

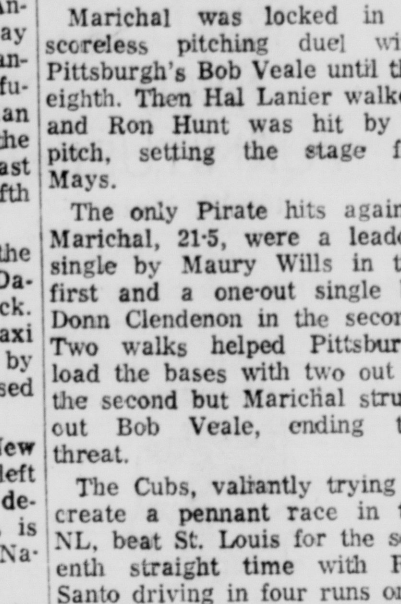

Mays 21 Short Of 600 Career Four Baggers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Twenty one is the magic number for Willie Mays and Juan Marichal. Mays needs them and Marichal has them.
Marichal won his 21st game of the season Tuesday night, and San Francisco blanked Pittsburgh 3-0 on Mays' 579th career homer. The eighth inning shot left Willie just 21 short of the coveted 600 mark.
The homer was only the second in a month for Mays and his 15th this season. His last one was on Aug. 2, also against the Pirates.
Marichal pitched a two-hitter and now is 14-1 on the road and only 7-4 at home this season. The shutout was the 37th of his career, placing him second on the alltime Giant list, one ahead of Carl Hubbell. Christy Mathewson holds the club record with 83.
Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago's rampaging Cubs walloped St. Louis 10-3. New York used three pitchers to shut out Los Angeles 2-0. Cincinnati outslugged Atlanta 9-8 and Houston split a twilight doubleheader with Philadelphia, winning 5-0 and then losing 4-2.
Marichal was locked in a scoreless pitching duel with Pittsburgh's Bob Veale until the eighth. Then Hal Lanier walked and Ron Hunt was hit by a pitch, setting the stage for Mays.
The only Pirate hits against Marichal, 21-5, were a leadoff single by Maury Wills in the first and a one-out single by Donn Clendenon in the second. Two walks helped Pittsburgh load the bases with two out in the second but Marichal struck out Bob Veale, ending the threat.
The Cubs, valiantly trying to create a pennant race in the NL, beat St. Louis for the seventh straight time with Ron Santo driving in four runs on a double and a homer.
Santo's 17th homer of the year snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh and Chicago wrapped it up with a five-run eighth inning. Ferguson Jenkins won his 13th game and struck out 12, increasing his league-leading total to 180.
The victory left the second place Cubs 12 games back of the Cardinals.
New York's Don Cardwell had the Dodgers shut out on three hits until the ninth when Len Gabrielson and Willie Davis opened with singles. Met Manager Gil Hodges brought on southpaw Billy Short to face left-handed batter Tom Haller.
The strategy worked with Haller, attempting to bunt, forcing Gabrielson at third. Then Hodges brought Cal Koonce in to retire Ken Boyer and Bob Bailey and wrap it up.
Larry Stahl tagged three hits and drove in one of New York's runs.
Leo Cardenas' ninth inning homer tied the game for Cincinnati and the Reds beat the Braves in the 10th on Mack Jones' double and a run-scoring single by Tony Perez.
The Reds tagged 19 hits—four of them by Pete Rose—and the Braves had 16 safeties. Fred Whitfield drove in three runs with a single and his first homer of the year for Cincinnati while Felix Millan and Bob Johnson had three hits each and Tito Francona three RBI for Atlanta.
Don Wilson pitched a four-hitter and Doug Rader tagged a two-run homer, helping Houston to its first game victory over Philadelphia. Denis Menke's bases-loaded single keyed a three-run wrapup rally in the sixth inning for the Astros.
Rich Allen's two-run homer in the second inning of the nightcap halted a 30-inning Philadelphia scoring drought and the Phillies gained the split when Gary Sutherland's pinch single drove in the tie-breaking run in a two-run seventh inning rally.

He Eats Well

DENVER (AP) — Tom Wilscam, head of a firm that operates three large restaurants in the Denver area, was a football guard at Colorado in 1959 and 1960.
"The PGA had to promise the network a representative field," a spokesman close to the TV negotiations said. "It's unreasonable to believe the PGA could hold the ABC to the contract if it couldn't produce the top players."
What is going to be the reaction of the club pros, who make up the bulk of the PGA membership with a total of 5,800 compared with 280 touring pros?
"I think most of the club pros will back us up when they hear the real story," said touring pro Dick Sikes.
"The club pros may overrule their own officers," added Goalby.

Carew Stars; Twins Top Senators

ALL ALONE AT THE TOP—Only .300 hitter in the American League is Rod Carew, the Twins' second baseman. Carew was hitting .305 when this picture was taken recently.

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Rod Carew is winning his match race with Elmer Flick... and Tony Oliva aims to make it a Twin Double.
Carew, the American League's leading hitter, cracked a double and two singles, raising his average five points to .309, as Minnesota clubbed Washington 8-4 Tuesday night.
Oliva, the Twins' two-time batting champion, also drilled three hits to hold the No. 2 spot behind Carew and climb within two points of the elusive .300 mark.
Flick, an old-time Cleveland outfielder, won the 1905 batting title with a .306 mark... the lowest ever for a league leader. A month ago, it appeared the 1968 AL king would have the dubious distinction of lowering Flick's standard.
But Carew has launched a torrid August spree and Oliva, back in the lineup after recovering from a leg injury, is starting to match his teammate stride for stride.
In other American League games, Cleveland nipped first place Detroit 1-0 on Sonny Siebert's three-hitter; second place Baltimore shaded Oakland 6-5; Boston nudged Chicago 4-3 and New York trimmed California 3-2.
Oliva's three singles, good for three RBI, helped the Twins stake rookie Tom Hall to an 8-2 early lead and the 20-year-old left-hander posted his first major league victory with late relief help from Al Worthington.
Carew extended his hitting streak to 12 games with a pair of scratch singles and a two-run double. The Twins' second baseman has been swinging at a .442 clip, with 23-for-52, since taking off on July 31. The streak has boosted his average 26 points from .283.
Oliva, sidelined for 10 games with a pulled hamstring in his left leg, got back in the lineup on Aug. 4 and has gone 12-for-32 since then for a nine-point pick-up.
Siebert struck out eight and stranded two Detroit runners on third in halting the Tigers' four-game winning streak. Larry Brown's bases-loaded single in the second inning delivered the only run in the game.
The Cleveland right-hander weathered a one-out triple by Mickey Stanley in the first inning, but did not allow another hit until Norm Caskey singled in the seventh and left Al Kaline on third in the eighth after he had singled and moved around on a pair of outs.
Don Buford, whose two-run single in the fourth broke a 3-3 tie.

Giles Qualifier For Amateur Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vinnie Giles figures this is the year for him to win the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.
Giles, a 25-year-old from Lynchburg, Va., was runnerup last year and with Bob Dickson, who beat him now a pro, Giles qualifying Tuesday for the U.S. Amateur which starts at Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 28.
The University of Virginia law student posted a three-over-par 145 over the Golden Horseshoe course at Williamsburg, Va., but as he put it the main thing was to qualify.

Jets Defeat Red Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Columbus Jets apparently intend to turn the long-ball tables on the Rochester Red Wings in their battle for second place in the International League race.
Victimized all season by Rochester's extra base hits, the Jets clubbed out a few of their own Tuesday night and defeated the Red Wings 6-1 to take a one-game grip on the No. 2 spot. Richmond's last-place Braves edged Toledo's front-running Mud Hens 2-1, Jacksonville overpowered Buffalo 14-1 and Syracuse knocked off Louisville 7-4.
The Jets snapped a 1-1 dead-lock with three runs in the sixth, the first two scoring on John Kennedy's double and Al Oliver's 11th homer. Jim Shell-enback limited Rochester to three hits.
Catcher Rich Sauget drove in both Richmond runs against Toledo. Mike Derrick's eighth home run gave the Mud Hens their run.

Favor Nicklaus At Westchester

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus, defending champion and winner of two tour events, is the overwhelming favorite in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic—richest of all the pro tournaments.
"The way he's playing, I guess you have to go with Jack," Masters champ Bob Goalby said Tuesday. "He won it last year and the way he's playing now, well..."
The 72-hole event, with a first prize of $50,000, opens Thursday on the 6,648-yard Westchester Country Club course. The big money has drawn all the big names in the game—with the exception of Gary Player, at home in South Africa.

Saints Obtain Karl Sweetan From Lions to Gain Power

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New Orleans Saints are making every effort to come marching in to their second National Football League season as strong as possible at the quarterback position.

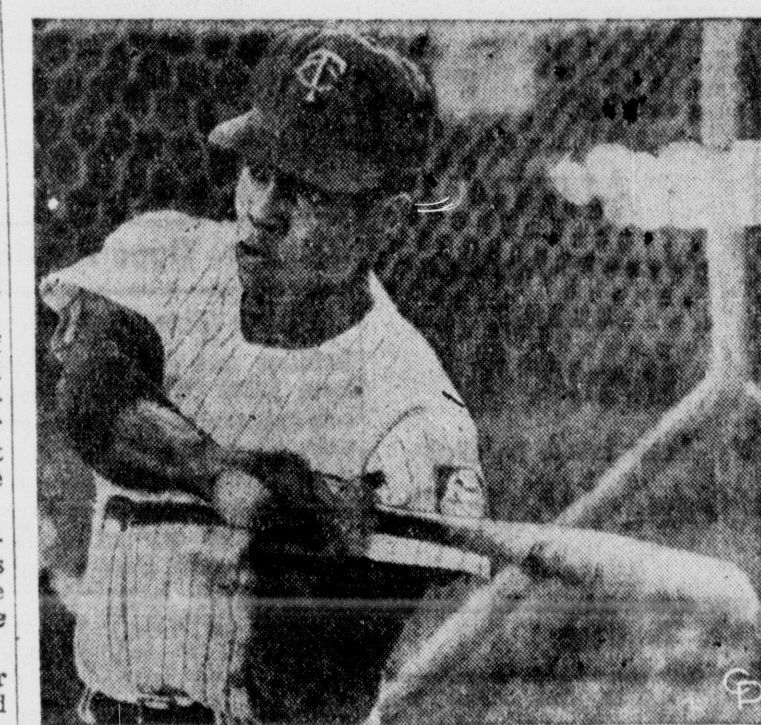

"We are getting a young and experienced quarterback in Sweetan," said Vic Schwent, New Orleans' general manager. "Bill Killebrew still is our No. 1 quarterback, but Sweetan figures to be in our plans for the future here."

The Saints' future is bound to be brighter than their one-year past. They failed to make capital of their first chance in the NFL, finishing in last place in the Eastern Conference's Capital Division with a 3-11 record.

PGA Player Revolt Shakes Golf World

NEW YORK (AP) — The multi-million-dollar structure of big time tournament golf trembled today under the impact of a player revolt that left sponsors, television officials and the pros themselves in a state of chaos and confusion.

"I think we had to take the action, but I'm a little scared," said Masters champion Bob Goalby, expressing the sentiments of a large number of the affluent golfing gypsies.

"I signed with the players, but I haven't been in on any of the ground work," said Arnold Palmer, the game's richest and perhaps most popular competitor. "I think this action may result in more negotiation. It would be better if the PGA and players could work together."

"I've received calls from all over the country in the past few weeks from sponsors who are fed up to here," said Angus M.

Mairs of Minneapolis, president of the International Golf Sponsors' Association, representing 33 of the 43 men who put up the $5.6 million to conduct the rich pro tour.

Bringing a long-simmering feud to a sudden and dramatic head, the players announced in New York Tuesday that they were breaking with the PGA and preparing to set up a tour of their own.

Through their attorney, Sam Gates of New York, they said they planned no immediate boycott but would honor all existing contracts, which include all 1968 tournaments and at least a couple in 1969—the Bob Hope Classic at Palm Desert, Calif., and the Doral at Miami.

The $250,000 Westchester Classic Opens at Rye, N.Y., Thursday.

But a number of questions remain unanswered:

What about the new, two-year contract signed recently by the PGA with the American Broadcasting Company, giving ABC the right to televise virtually every big tournament except the Masters?

"The PGA had to promise the network a representative field," a spokesman close to the TV negotiations said. "It's unreasonable to believe the PGA could hold the ABC to the contract if it couldn't produce the top players."

What is going to be the reaction of the club pros, who make up the bulk of the PGA membership with a total of 5,800 compared with 280 touring pros?

"I think most of the club pros will back us up when they hear the real story," said touring pro Dick Sikes.

"The club pros may overrule their own officers," added Goalby.

Favor Nicklaus At Westchester

JACK NICKLAUS

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus, defending champion and winner of two tour events, is the overwhelming favorite in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic—richest of all the pro tournaments.

"The way he's playing, I guess you have to go with Jack," Masters champ Bob Goalby said Tuesday. "He won it last year and the way he's playing now, well..."

The 72-hole event, with a first prize of $50,000, opens Thursday on the 6,648-yard Westchester Country Club course. The big money has drawn all the big names in the game—with the exception of Gary Player, at home in South Africa.

Siebert Happy With Shutout Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sonny Siebert found his confidence and stayed loose, and the Cleveland Indians finally won one from the Detroit Tigers.

It took a shutout to do it, and Siebert came through with probably his best performance this year as the Indians defeated the Tigers 1-0 Tuesday night.

"It was his best game of the year," pitching coach Jack Sanford said flatly, "maybe the best of his career."

"I just made up my mind I was gonna pitch like my old self," said Sonny, who hadn't won a game since July 22. "Confidence is 70 per cent of pitching."

Giants Peg Grid Hopes on Defense

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — When the National Football League split itself four ways, New York was such a nice place to visit that everybody wanted to keep a piece of the Giants' action.

That's why sold-out Yankee Stadium should be a welcome sight for two of New York's new Capitol Division rivals when they return this fall after a year's absence.

But if Allie Sherman has anything to say about it, the Giants will pull up the red carpet considerably short of their end zone.

Sherman's Giants, shifted from the Century Division to the Capitol this year under a 1966 realignment agreement worked out to offer continued New York exposure for all the Eastern Conference clubs, are pegging their 1968 title hopes on the maturity of a young and previously erratic defensive unit.

The Giants already have passed one stiff test, upsetting Green Bay's NFL champions 15-14 in their exhibition debut. But they'll probably need every preventive weapon they can muster in the Capitol race against the Dallas Cowboys and Washington Redskins, who didn't play in New York last year, and the Philadelphia Eagles, who did.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton put the Giants back together again last season after their nightmarish 1966 collapse. But further improvement, particularly on defense, is a must if they expect to give Dallas' division favorites a run for the money.

"We think our offense, with Tarkenton, will be explosive again," says Sherman, beginning his eighth season as the Giants head coach. "We expect it to remain at the same level, although, of course, we hope it'll be even better."

"We're looking for an upgrade of about 25 per cent on defense."

In 1967 the Giants had to score more touchdowns, 49, than any other NFL club for a 7-7 finish in the Century race. Tarkenton, sensational split end Homer Jones, hard-running Ernie Koy and their offensive cohorts put 369 points on the board. But the defense yielded 379.

Still, the defenders showed marked gains over the debacle of 1966, when they gave up an NFL record 501 points as the Giants tumbled to 1-12-1, their worst win/loss ever.

If the front four—Bruce Anderson, Roger Anderson, Bob Lurtsema and 13-year vet Jim Katcavage—can get to opposing passers more often than last season, they could take some pressure off an improving young secondary.

Praise Cardenas For Reds' Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Leo Cardenas' home run really brought us out of the grave," said Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol after the Reds outlasted Atlanta 9-8 Tuesday night.

Bristol might have added Tony Perez and last June's three-player swap with Atlanta to the cause list.

It was Perez who came up with a game-winning single in the 10th inning, pushing across Mack Jones who had doubled.

A trade last June saw pitchers Milt Pappas and Ted Davidson going to the Braves in exchange for pitchers Tony Cloninger and Clay Carroll and infielder Woody Woodward.

Giants Peg Grid Hopes on Defense

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — When the National Football League split itself four ways, New York was such a nice place to visit that everybody wanted to keep a piece of the Giants' action.

That's why sold-out Yankee Stadium should be a welcome sight for two of New York's new Capitol Division rivals when they return this fall after a year's absence.

But if Allie Sherman has anything to say about it, the Giants will pull up the red carpet considerably short of their end zone.

Sherman's Giants, shifted from the Century Division to the Capitol this year under a 1966 realignment agreement worked out to offer continued New York exposure for all the Eastern Conference clubs, are pegging their 1968 title hopes on the maturity of a young and previously erratic defensive unit.

The Giants already have passed one stiff test, upsetting Green Bay's NFL champions 15-14 in their exhibition debut. But they'll probably need every preventive weapon they can muster in the Capitol race against the Dallas Cowboys and Washington Redskins, who didn't play in New York last year, and the Philadelphia Eagles, who did.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton put the Giants back together again last season after their nightmarish 1966 collapse. But further improvement, particularly on defense, is a must if they expect to give Dallas' division favorites a run for the money.

"We think our offense, with Tarkenton, will be explosive again," says Sherman, beginning his eighth season as the Giants head coach. "We expect it to remain at the same level, although, of course, we hope it'll be even better."

"We're looking for an upgrade of about 25 per cent on defense."

In 1967 the Giants had to score more touchdowns, 49, than any other NFL club for a 7-7 finish in the Century race. Tarkenton, sensational split end Homer Jones, hard-running Ernie Koy and their offensive cohorts put 389 points on the board. But the defense yielded 379.

Still, the defenders showed marked gains over the debacle of 1966, when they gave up an NFL record 501 points as the Giants tumbled to 1-12-1, their worst windup ever.

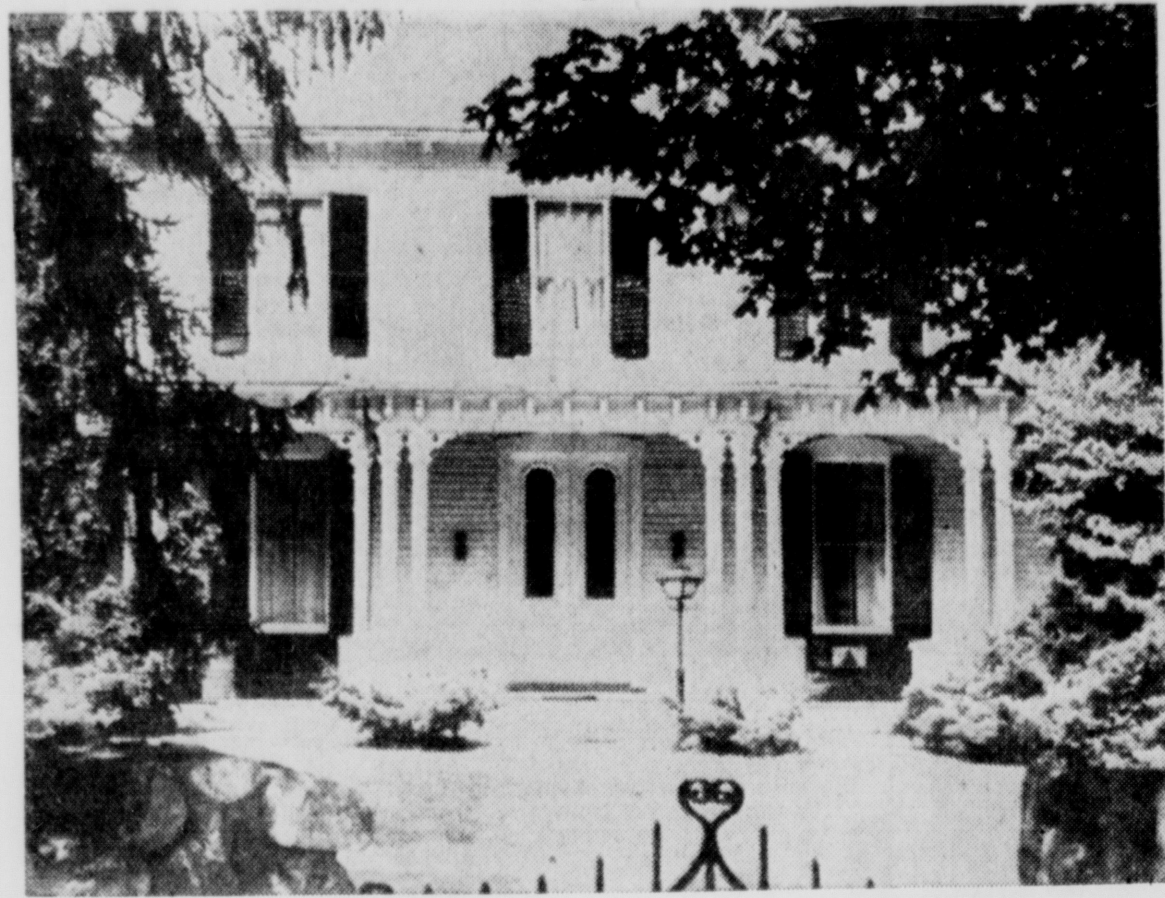

If the front four—Bruce Anderson, Roger Anderson, Bob Lurtsema and 13-year vet Jim Katcavage—can get to opposing passers more often than last season, they could take some pressure off an improving young secondary.

History of Adelphi indicates that no social gathering of the early settlers was complete without the glowing effects of the fruit of distilleries.

Jacob Karshner, who came into the area soon after the turn of the 19th century is accredited with the first distillery — one of many that made an appearance in the community. It is reported that at one time, stills were as numerous as the farms. Yet at no time in Adelphi's history was the moral welfare of the town in jeopardy.

Another item to complete any community gathering was the famous Adelphi bologna. Originated by Gus Santo, who arrived in Adelphi from Chillicothe, this meat became the town's most important and best remembered product.

An occasional glimpse of land grade or trestles it the only reminder of what was once the Kingston and Adelphi railroad route — a project that gave a high degree of satisfaction, but was a poor business venture to be abandoned after a period of 13 years.

THOUGH short lived, the K and A railroad had a colorful life. It was a single track line with no turntable, thus the engine went forward to Kingston and backward to Adelphi. It made two trips daily carrying passengers and freight. Merchandise from the area was carried to other points via the railroad, and many gay passenger excursions were brought into the area for an outing at the Mineral Spring grounds where the track ended.

With the abandonment of the financial failure went the hopes of Adelphi for a shipping center and the only mode of public transportation that ever existed in the town.

History of Adelphi indicates that no social gathering of the early settlers was complete without the glowing effects of the fruit of distilleries.

Jacob Karshner, who came into the area soon after the turn of the 19th century is accredited with the first distillery — one of many that made an appearance in the community. It is reported that at one time, stills were as numerous as the farms. Yet at no time in Adelphi's history was the moral welfare of the town in jeopardy.

Another item to complete any community gathering was the famous Adelphi bologna. Originated by Gus Santo, who arrived in Adelphi from Chillicothe, this meat became the town's most important and best remembered product.

An occasional glimpse of land grade or trestles it the only reminder of what was once the Kingston and Adelphi railroad route — a project that gave a high degree of satisfaction, but was a poor business venture to be abandoned after a period of 13 years.

THOUGH short lived, the K and A railroad had a colorful life. It was a single track line with no turntable, thus the engine went forward to Kingston and backward to Adelphi. It made two trips daily carrying passengers and freight. Merchandise from the area was carried to other points via the railroad, and many gay passenger excursions were brought into the area for an outing at the Mineral Spring grounds where the track ended.

With the abandonment of the financial failure went the hopes of Adelphi for a shipping center and the only mode of public transportation that ever existed in the town.
